lowed diplomatic consultations with the governments of 18 other American republics.

Argentine Plot

A majority of these governments are now convinced that Argentine nationalists, including members of the Ramirez regime, have been endeavoring through secret agents to bring about the overthrow of governments in neighboring countries for the purpose of establishing military dictatorships sympathetic to Argentina's official policies.

Axis agents also are believed to be actively encouraging this plot with a view of creating a second front of political chaos and confusion in South America.

The Peruvian government disclosed last week that it had uncovered a pro-Axis conspiracy to stage a revolt in that country. The British also arrested the Argentine consul in Trinidad, charging him with being an enemy agent.

The Argentine plot to establish military dictatorships in neighboring countries is believed to be prompted primarily by a desire to strengthen the position at home of the Ramirez regime, which is known to be lacking popular support because of its refusal to support the Allied cause.

U. S. Has Evidence

The American government is in possession of evidence showing that members of the new Bolivian regime held several meetings with Argentine nationalists prior to the revolt in Bolivia. A good deal of the evidence in this government's possession cannot be revealed because it would jeopardize the sources of information.

Meanwhile, Dr. Enrique De Lozada, confidential agent of the new Bolivian government in Washington, announced he has resigned his post because of dissatisfaction with the policies of the regime in La Paz.

MAYOR STILL UNDECIDED ON SAFETY CHIEF

Mayor Ben H. Gordon has not yet reached a decision concerning his new safety director to succeed Clarence Helvering, who has been acting in that role since early last Spring.

Council refused to approve an ordinance combining the two jobs, voting four to three against such a move, thus making it necessary for the mayor to pick a new city official.

Mr. Helvering has been serving as service director and as safety director since E. W. Weller resigned the latter position early last year.

The mayor said names of several persons had been submitted as possible nominees.

The safety director supervises police and fire departments, Berger hospital and relief.

Rear Admiral Monroe Kelly, U. S. N., commandant of the navy yard, will preside at the launching.

Construction of the ship was authorized by act of congress on May 17, 1939, and the work was assigned to the New York navy yard on June 12, 1940. The keel was laid January 6, 1941.

MRS. MARGARET CORDRAY DIES AT ASHVILLE HOME

Mrs. Margaret Ann Cordray, 87, widow of William H. Cordray, died Sunday at 4:30 a. m. at her home, 90 Plum street, Ashville, of complications after a long illness. Born July 18, 1856, in Pickaway county, she was the daughter of Peter and Abriah Botts McDonald.

Mrs. Cordray leaves three sons, Charles F. and Dr. Palmer L. of Columbus and Marshall F. of near Granville, and one daughter, Mrs. Carrie D. Reed, of Bowling Green. Funeral services will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Ashville Methodist church with the Rev. H. O. Harbaugh and the Rev. Dwight Woodworth officiating. Burial in Reber Hill mausoleum in charge of the Schlegel funeral home, Ashville.

CLARA LITTLETON HURT

MRS. MYRTLE L. CLIFTON FOUND DEAD AT HOME

Mrs. Myrtle Lucile Clifton, 60, was found dead Sunday at 6:45 p. m. by Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Dewey, 220 South Scioto street, with whom she roomed. Mrs. Clifton is believed to have died of an organic heart Saturday evening, the Deweys finding her after they returned from a trip.

Mrs. Clifton was a native of Terre Haute, Ind., and is survived by a son, John, of Columbus, and two daughters, Alice Clifton of Peru, Ind., and Mrs. Lloyd Henry of Berkeley, Cal. She came to Circleville in June, 1941, to make her home with her son, who is connected with the Stansbury-Stout Corporation. A brother, Edward Lawrence of Indianapolis, also survives.

The funeral will be Thursday in Peru, Ind. Arrangements for services are in charge of the Albaugh Co.

Ukrainian army, now far across the pre-war Polish frontier.

In the Pacific theatre, a Japanese stronghold at the head of the Faria river in northeastern New Guinea was wrested from the Nipponese, who left 100 dead on the battlefield. Australian jungle troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command who scored this victory followed up by plunging farther up the Ramu valley.

Allied warplanes ranging widely over the southwest Pacific sank six Nipponese ships, one a 1,000-ton merchant vessel which was sent to the bottom in a strafing attack by two P-58 Lightning fighter planes. Long-range fighters which sank three other vessels off Timor island also shot down an enemy bomber.

Hit Japs at Night

Night-fighters have joined the 24-hour cavalcade of Allied planes pounding Alexishafen and other Japanese bases along the New Guinea coast, Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's headquarters revealed today.

With characteristic tenacity, despite heavy daylight bombings, the Japs still were operating planes from the Alexishafen strip. The other night Major Carroll Smith, of El Centro, Cal., flying a night-fighter, laid a trap.

Just as the last light flickered over the palm trees, he sighted an enemy dive-bomber circling the drome. The Japs had moved a mobile anti-aircraft gun to the center of the strip to protect their ships, but ignoring its fire Smith went in to attack.

"The Jap pilot saw me coming and started to make a 180-degree turn," Smith said. "He only made 140," he added.

Last night Lieutenants Richard Ferris, of Nyack, N. Y., and Russell Carriger, of Whittier, Cal., made a coastal sweep at dusk. They strafed a bomber on the ground and blew up a ship, they reported.

"We found them sitting around a fire in a barge base," Ferris explained. "All we left was the fire."

COUNTY RED CROSS TO HELP PLAN FUND DRIVE

Pickaway county Red Cross is expected to be represented at a War Fund campaign meeting being held Monday and Tuesday in Columbus. Plans for the February-March campaign will be outlined at the meeting.

Carl C. Leist, Pickaway county chairman, said that personnel of a delegation to attend the meeting has not yet been decided, although it is certain that someone will be there.

Mr. Leist said the chapter has not yet completed plans for its

DRAFT BOARD GETS CALL FOR EARLY FEBRUARY

Pickaway county draft board received notice Monday from state headquarters to send another contingent of 1-A registrants before the army medical team early in February for pre-induction examinations.

The contingent will be about three times as large as the group which went to Huntington, W. Va., last Saturday for pre-induction tests. There were 16 men in that group. The local board has not yet received notice from Huntington concerning how many of the men in the contingent were found physically satisfactory for army or navy service.

The men accepted return home as civilians to await their call into service. These calls are expected at the end of 21 days, notices being sent out from the local board office.

The next contingent to be assigned for pre-induction tests will go to Columbus instead of to Huntington.

The board has been given no information concerning the exact date that the men found acceptable Saturday might be called. Neither has the board been told when the group leaving early next month will be summoned for assignment and classification, although it is believed possible that they may be called before the end of February.

It is almost certain that men found acceptable in the Huntington examination will be called for service in February.

Men found acceptable in the group going to the medical center early in February may also be called into service in February since the 21-day minimum period allowed between examination and induction will not run into March.

MRS. KATE B. DUNLAP DIES AS RESULT OF MISHAP

Mrs. Kate B. Dunlap, 81, widow of Nelson J. Dunlap, died Sunday at 9:30 p. m. in Berger hospital of complications following a hip fracture suffered December 23. She was injured in a fall at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Russell, of Fulton, where she was visiting. Mrs. Dunlap, a former resident of Kingston, had lived with her daughter, Mrs. H. O. Pile, of 122 Edison avenue, since the death of Mr. Dunlap.

Mrs. Dunlap was born June 23, 1862, in Guernsey county, her parents being Walter Bell and Sarah Thomas Barnett. Mrs. Dunlap had been twice married. Her first husband was William Bogs of Kingston. Mrs. Pile being their daughter. Other survivors in addition to her sister and daughter are three grandchildren.

Mrs. Dunlap was a member of the Kingston Presbyterian church. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Mader chapel with the Rev. Carl Kennedy of the First Presbyterian church of this city officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Kingston. Friends may call at the Mader funeral home after Tuesday noon.

WORLD RELIEF FACING FIRST TEST IN HOUSE

Resolution Providing $1,350,000,000 Fund Up For Approval

"Mr. Roosevelt is endeavoring to avoid the necessity of outlining the peace settlement proposals to the American people."

Bloom, meantime, held it cost the United States three and one half billion dollars—in the shape of a loan which this nation "did not expect to get back"—to provide relief for war-torn countries after World War I.

"This time, instead of fooling ourselves, we are giving a certain amount of money for a broader purpose than was achieved last time," he said, adding that America will spend only one billion, 350 million dollars for the purpose after the present war.

J. D. MASON TO DIRECT LOCAL MARCH OF DIMES

Circleville's March of Dimes campaign, in which local contributions will go to President Roosevelt's Warm Springs, Ga., foundation fighting infantile paralysis, will be launched Tuesday with J. Donald Mason acting as director of the local drive.

March of Dimes leaders in Columbus had asked Mr. Mason to conduct a President's Birthday Ball here next Saturday, but because of the lack of time to prepare for such an event it was planned to conduct the campaign in a different manner.

Mr. Mason is preparing glass jars to be put in business houses in Circleville. Persons interested in helping in the fight against infantile paralysis are asked to make their contributions in these jars.

The containers will be placed in the business houses Tuesday. The March of Dimes campaign is conducted throughout the nation.

VICTORY IN '44?

I. W. KINSEY, Montclair avenue: "These new actions in Italy are certainly forerunners of bigger things to come. GEORGE JOINS MOANERS OVER TAX COMPLEXITY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—Sen. Walter F. George (D) Ga., chairman of the senate finance committee, today joined those who criticize the complexity of income tax returns.

"The forms are unnecessarily complicated," said George, chairman of the senate finance committee. "They are prepared by the Bureau of Internal Revenue under supervision of the treasury, and congress can do little about this. 'I am not sure how far we can go in simplifying taxes. I think we can make some contribution, but to a large extent the simplification must be made by the bureau.'"

Joint congressional tax experts will cooperate with the house ways and means committee in seeking simplification after the $2,275,600,000 tax bill, passed by the senate Friday, is cleared through conference.

George said it probably will be possible to revise the withholding tax system so that some millions of taxpayers will not have to file returns.

"However," he added, "there are so many individual taxpayers who want to take the deductions they are entitled to that they may want to file a return and figure out these deductions to fit their individual case."

Conferees meet on the new tax bill tomorrow. George expressed hope that an agreement can be reached between the senate and house this week on conflicting amendments.

N. L. Cochran Reelected Boy Scout Chairman For Local District

Norbert L. Cochran, manager of the Circleville plant of the Container Corporation of America, was elected Sunday at the annual organization meeting of the Pickaway county district Boy Scouts of America to serve another year as district chairman.

The organization session was conducted in the Methodist church with Stuart Villa of Lancaster, area council executive, supervising the meeting.

Mr. Cochran has served successfully during the last year. He outlined plans for extension of Boy Scout work during the next year, calling on more of the county's parents to serve on district and local troop committees. Need for leadership was stressed by Mr. Cochran, declaring that refusal of sufficient adults to take an interest in Boy Scout work had resulted in the program's slowness of development here.

GRANT EMPLOYEES SET QUOTA FOR BOND DRIVE

Two thousand dollars in War Bonds and Stamps is the quota employees of the W. T. Grant store at 129 West Main street have pledged themselves to sell during the Fourth War Loan Drive, M. C. Lee, store manager, announced today.

This will amount to $200 in Bonds and Stamps for every employee in the store.

Employees will sell stamps to customers, friends, neighbors and relatives during the drive. Each person who sells at least $200 in bonds will receive a Treasury department citation of merit. When the store has met its quota, it will receive the retailer's banner, a government citation.

During the Third War Loan Drive from September 9 to September 30, Grant company employees sold more than three million dollars in War Bonds and Stamps.

Ashville's basketball team will play Washington township on the local court Tuesday evening with the reserve game starting at 7:30 p. m.

To most of us reading the morning paper is the extent of our excitement at the breakfast table. But to Henry Butler of Jacksonville, Florida, the morning meal will seem "pretty tame" after a recent rude interruption which occurred while he was eating breakfast. A buzz saw ripped through the side of his house, sliced the breakfast table in half, and then whirled out the other side of the house. The saw had broken loose at a nearby saw mill, flipped through a church, and then plowed through Butler's house.

Regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

MARINES SLOG THROUGH BOUGAINVILLE MUD

DURING EARLY OPERATIONS on Bougainville Island, torrential rains turned the dirt roads into muddy by-paths that even bogged down jeeps. Caterpillar tractors had to be used to move supplies to the fighting front. This supply unit halts for a momentary rest on its way up to the line after battling through the goosy, clinging mud for hours. This is a U. S. Marine Corps photo.

THE RUSSIAN PUZZLE

AMERICANS, as a rule, have no talent for intrigue and little understanding of it when it appears before their eyes. So our public is naturally puzzled by the confused diplomatic situation developing in Russia the last few days. Everything between the Russians and their British and American allies seemed to be going smoothly when, all of a sudden, confusion and mistrust seemed to arise.

If anyone is to be blamed particularly for this development, presumably it is Hitler. It is to his interest to create all the trouble he can among the Allies, and he is a master hand, along with Joe Goebbels, at such plots. But there is probably a Russian factor in it, too, which must be recognized for full understanding.

There is no free press and easy-flowing public opinion as we know it in Russia. That great nation is completely controlled by Stalin and his ruling group.

Then, Russia for years has been a nation separated from all the others in Europe and elsewhere, feared and distrusted by her present allies as well as her present enemies. It has developed the defensive and suspicious characteristics natural in such a situation. Its rulers cannot suddenly shed all suspicion and deal with their allies in complete frankness. There are bound to be developments, from time to time, that surprise and puzzle the other Allies. The only thing to do is to meet them with patience and good will. Suspicion of Allies is the bait of Hitler's trap.

WATCH BULGARIA

IN the last war Bulgaria was one of the smallest of the states actively engaged. Yet she assumed an importance out of all proportion to her size. Her collapse brought down the entire structure of the central powers.

History may repeat itself. The continued bombing of her capital Sofia must impress the people with the Nazi inability to protect them. And every day brings the Russian armies nearer. Her pro-Axis government is held in power only by keeping there Nazi troops which Hitler longs to use elsewhere.

If a Bulgarian explosion comes, its effects will be far-reaching.

Nazi strategy these days is like trying to carry water in a vessel full of leaks. The problem is, which leak to stop first.

As for that Pravda rumor, "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth."

So far in this long-distance war there are no peacemakers, but plenty of pacemakers.

Bricker Impresses Scribe
With His Forthrightness

Ohio Governor's Courage
And Practicability Noted

By HELEN ESSARY
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON—I went to some of Presidential Candidate John Bricker's meetings out in Kansas City the other day. Bricker left his post as governor of Ohio and stepped across the Mississippi river to whip up a little enthusiasm in Missouri.

I liked the governor a lot more than I expected to. You know how some people talk about John Bricker. They say: "He's been a good governor of Ohio, but, so what?" They say he is lacking in force. That he is so amiable he has no enemies, and that enemies are as necessary to the development of a man in public life as were fleas to the dog of David Harum.

Of course, I don't know much about the governor's qualifications for the presidency. But I've listened to many hopeful candidates talk. And I was as much impressed with John Bricker as with any of the rest.

Bricker is a distinguished looking man. Sort of like Harding but not so handsome. He has an excellent voice. He is a phrase maker. He thinks fast and has courage. I thought he had some originality, too. Didn't use all those same awful sentences politicians trot out as the next election day comes galloping up on the innocent populace. Bricker sounded a practical fellow. They say he balances budgets with the turn of a fountain pen. He can also turn a neat joke to illustrate a point and he laughs as he enjoys laughing.

The audience to which Bricker talked when I was present was composed of party workers. And a very prosperous, pleased crowd they appeared, too. The place was full of four cipher fur coats and bright smiles. When the governor made a quick answer everybody applauded like the Dickens.

"Remember this," said the governor solemnly. "I am first, last and always—a REPUBLICAN!"

"You see!" said a woman next to me, with whom up to that moment I had not exchanged two words of conversation. "You see!" "I do see," I said quickly, and was somehow reminded of that

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

WHO'S TO GET GRAVY?
WASHINGTON — A knock-down drag-out fight has been raging behind the scenes of the War Production Board over the humble electric iron. Actually, the row is more basic than irons. It involves the problem of getting back to peacetime production, and who is going to get the gravy. Here is the story.

Many a young lieutenant in the Army or Navy who gets married these days wants to purchase, among his first household requirements, an electric iron. Laundries are short-handed, the bride has to do the washing, and an iron is essential. But there are no electric irons.

So, with raw materials now available, WPB is quite willing to permit their manufacture again. That is no problem.

The problem is: Who is to make the irons? And there has been a bitter battle over this.

The big companies which made electric irons before the war have clamored that this was their job. They point out that they have been tied up with airplane and other war orders which they don't particularly want, and that they should not be penalized.

They also argue that, if the small companies get in on the ground floor with the manufacture of electric irons now, they will take away the market after the war.

Meanwhile, many small companies have been near bankruptcy during the war, while between 80 to 90 percent of the war orders have gone to a relatively few big companies.

In the end, the electric-iron dispute was compromised in this manner. The small companies will manufacture the irons. Then they will stamp the irons with the trade-marks of the big companies and turn them over to the big companies. The big companies will then sell them and maintain a place in the sun for post-war production.

BATTLE CONTINUES

However, this settles only the question of electric irons. The much broader question of all other peacetime articles, from electric refrigerators to frying pans, from mouse traps to spraying nozzles, awaits decision. Are they to be made only by the companies which made them before, or will the field be opened to everyone?

Never before in American history has the U. S. government had such a life-or-death say over American industry as it has today through WPB.

WPB moguls are at sixes and sevens over it. Most of the dollar-a-year men follow the thesis not only of business as usual, but business as it used to be. They want to freeze everything.

But some WPB'ers point to the tremendous number of inventions affecting post-war goods, argue that refrigerators, for instance, will be made out of plastics, and that it will be unfair and unhealthy for the nation to freeze production in post-war lines.

The American system of free competition never was needed more than now, they argue, and big business, even though penalized momentarily, has the overwhelming edge in funds, technical genius, and plant equipment to catch up with little business if the latter does get a head start.

Meanwhile, all types of business are straining at the leash, awaiting the signal (Continued on Page Eight)

What Makes Baby Cry

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THERE ARE and always have been two major schools of thought about the crying baby. The hard boiled school thinks it is good for the baby to cry—it "opens the lungs." The soft boiled school is alarmed because if the baby cries it must mean something and proper treatment should be instituted.

Dr. Clendingen will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

I am not mentioning some of the minor schools, such as the one which holds that if the baby doesn't quit squawking he or she will go crazy. To the members of this school the baby's troubles are secondary. It is the listener's comfort that comes first.

There is something to be said both for and against the idea of each of the major schools. A certain amount of crying is good for the baby's respiratory system. And against the soft boiled school, the baby soon learns that when it puts up a holler mama will pick it up and wumpy-dumpy it, and baby likes attention just as much as you do; so its crying spells become more and more frequent. It is, in short, to be old fashioned, a "cry baby."

Reasons Baby Cries

In general the baby cries about a few very simple things:

Hunger.
Uncomfortable clothes.
Uncomfortable position in bed.
Fear.
Sickness—pain from teething or a bump—is the least frequent of all.

The baby has only one way of signalling the outside world—crying—and if it is hungry or dirty or uncomfortable or frightened it signals that way.

Hidden hunger is the only thing to fear in the hunger category. Mother should not put herself on a spot by interrupting the regularity of meals—or she will be trotting half the time. But hidden hunger due to insufficient breast milk, or poor dairy milk, or lack of Vitamin D and C (cod liver oil and orange juice) is a possibility even when the meals are regular and seem sufficient.

Uncomfortable Clothes

Uncomfortable clothes include everything from the good old open safety pin, to bunches and wads of clothing, to filth. The skin should be carefully cleansed whenever the diapers are changed or there will be a skin rash, which will sting every time baby urinates. Keeping the diapers boiled and wiping the skin with cotton saturated in baby oil is the answer.

It takes some time for the baby to learn to roll over in bed, so it remains in the position just the way mother puts it. One position gets tiresome to the baby as well as to you, so the yell signal a change—"Put me on my back or stomach or side."

Fear—Babies are frightened by noises and by the fear of falling. When he is picked up suddenly or lowered into the bath he reaches for anything he can grab. In time he gains confidence in his caretaker. A slamming door, a blast from the radio, water running out of the bath are beyond his comprehension and scare him. The modern world is full of unnecessary noises and the baby can't be blamed for having a tough time getting used to them.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

BY THE time she had stormed out of Sanborns and reached her car, Mallory heard Richard's feet pouncing on the narrow sidewalk. Paying no attention to him, she opened the door of the convertible and got in before Armando could recover from his astonishment and help her. He raced from where he had been leaning against the wall beside a shop window.

The girl interrupted his fleet apologies. "That's all right, Armando. I can open the door of an automobile. Just get started."

The engine began its almost silent buzzing, just as Blythe clamped a hand on the door. Armando paid no attention. He played skillfully with the wheel and managed to get the machine half way out of its cramped parking spot.

"Miss Baker," called out the American. "What on earth is the matter with you—Miss Baker, please!"

The Mexican driver put the car into neutral and set the brake. He gave Richard Blythe a quick glance of definite incomprehensibility.

"Miss Baker," he said, "is this stranger becoming a trouble?"

"No, Armando—and he is not a stranger."

"But he was chasing you. You were running away and he was chasing you and he did not look very friendly. Neither did you, senorita. You know part of my job is to protect you. I keep from you the trouble."

"It's all right, Armando. Really it is. Just let the car set for a minute." She turned and faced the American. Her manner was earnest. "I'm sorry I behaved as I did. But, you see, I've decided I have nothing urgent to tell you after all."

Richard Blythe's brown eyes were flecked with those same spots she remembered having seen the day they were on the plane together, only this time they were not amusement spots. They were evidence of anger. His out-thrust chin proved that.

"What if you decided to keep your great secret? I'll manage to survive without hearing it. That's not the point. I just want to tell you not to pull that temperamental prima donna stuff on me. I don't have to take it."

"Then why did you race after me?" Mallory's words were like the jabs from a sharp lance.

"To tell you what I think of you. Not to take any more of it because I'll never do that." He took a breath and began with a slow, cold venom. "You are the most unattractive, arrogant woman I've ever seen since."

That slow coldness was a mistake. Armando was naturally a fast chatterer, and now he was really striving. Speedy sentences rushed from his mouth. Somehow he managed to stand up in the car, back of its large steering wheel. From this towering perch he yelled down at Richard Blythe.

"Hush the mouth. Hush it right now or I'll get some cops. The cops and I will mow you down. You are a trouble. You have insult my nice Miss Baker."

Blythe now was yelling back. "Your nice Miss Baker," he said, as if the words tasted badly, "needs her ears bopped down."

Mallory was trying to sink far enough into the automobile cushions so as not to be seen by curious passersby.

"Hush the mouth!" Armando again howled. Then he stopped to ponder. His sudden silence brought Mallory's gaze from the people on the street to her driver's transfixed face. "Bopped?" he was asking.

"What is that, please? The American slang," he anticipated happily, aged to get the machine half way out of its cramped parking spot.

"Means this," he made a swipe through the air that threatened Mallory Baker's ear. She ducked and let out an unwilling little shriek.

"Thank you, lady, for helping with the demonstration. Now move over and let me in."

Mallory did as she was told. Still standing, Armando watched with flabbergasted eyes.

"Sit down, Armando, ordered the girl.

He obeyed as if he were sliding down a chute, landing on the deeply cushioned seat with a thud that bounced the other two occupants.

"You are sudden friends?"

"Armando," praised the American, our alliance could not be described in more perfect words."

The Mexican boy forgot his enmity. Utter beatitude wove itself into his smile. "Yes, my American friend, you are so dandy and now, to think I have learned a new one. Bopped," he savored. "I like it plenty. Yesterday I learned to say, 'as a matter of fact.'"

"Miraculous," eulogized Blythe. "Yes, I know that word also."

Once more the driver was weaving Mallory Baker's green convertible out into the busy traffic of Avenida Juarez. "Although I am sure Prism gave me the better way to say that one. She teaches to me when she gives me my meals in your kitchen, Miss Baker." He gave that deft side glance that he seemed to have mastered even in thickest traffic. "You do not mind, senorita?"

"No. But let me give you a whisper of advice, Armando. Do not always trust Prism's pronunciation. Occasionally she is wrong."

"Yes, Miss Baker. Still she knows some glorious words." He cast a second quick sideways look, this time toward their newly acquired passenger. "Then, everything is okay-dokey, Miss Baker?"

"Okay-dokey," she sanctioned.

She turned and really looked at Richard Blythe for the first time since she had seen him on the plane. "Okay-dokey to you, too," she said. "Incidentally, you're still as handsome as I decided you were on the flight to Dallas—but don't get worried. I did have designs on you, but I've changed my mind now."

"Then I am lucky. I wouldn't bother with an unpredictable dame—tell me, do you prima donnas caper like that all the time?"

"I wouldn't know." The singer's answer was sweet. "You see I'm so famous I don't have to worry about what other prima donnas—as you call them—do. That's for beginners. As for myself," she claimed airily, "I'm just a natural, normal human being."

"If you had a callopie trailing you, you'd defeat a four-ring circus."

"Did you ever take lessons from Tod Patrick, my manager? You certainly get into his territory when it comes to what laughingly is known as masculine wit."

"I don't know your Tod Patrick. But I do know when he mentioned him twice in 30 minutes. To me that seems significant."

Tears of genuine merriment filled Mallory's eyes. "It is insignificant. Tod Patrick is like the villain who holds the mortgage."

They were now circling about the Caballito statue, the one of Charles IV, as Armando guided the machine into Reforma boulevard.

"I have heard," said Blythe, "that the sculptor who did that was so embarrassed when he discovered he'd left stirrups off the saddle that he committed suicide."

"Oh, Mr. Blythe, that is a lie!" declared Armando with fiery patriotism.

Mallory placated him. "It is a lovely statue, Armando."

Blythe, too, hurried to say, "I never did believe it, Armando."

"Where are we going, anyway?" the girl asked her driver. "Looks like I'm being taken home."

"Oh, no, I am driving you and your guest to the park. Sunday is not Sunday without joining the promenade in the so-beautiful Chapultepec park."

"He is right," said Richard Blythe. "It is almost as much a part of the Sunday ritual as mass. And, of course, the bullfight."

"I'll not go to a bullfight until after I've done my concerts," said Mallory.

"Chapultepec mean 'Hill of the Grasshopper,'" said Armando. "You see, Mr. Blythe, how I am the good guide for Miss Baker? I know. I study. I learn." He left off talking to prove that he learned. Added to a violent signal on the horn was a peppery sentence in Spanish. Mallory caught the word "bopped" and knew the other driver was having his ears threatened. His usual formal, "I beg your pardon, senorita," followed.

Mallory Baker did not answer. She was craning her neck as they passed the Montecito. "Look," she exclaimed, "John and Bill Smith must be going somewhere. A boy is putting luggage into their car."

"How do you know it's their car?"

Family Dinner Honors Lieut. Owens and Wife

Anniversary of Marriage Is Celebrated

Honoring Lieutenant Robert Owens and his wife, Private First Class Helen Evans Owens, a family dinner was served Sunday at the home of Lieut. Owens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Owens, of East Corwin street. Joint hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Loring Evans, East Main street, parents of Pfc. Owens, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum of North Court street, uncle and aunt of Lieut. Owens.

The dinner marked the first wedding anniversary of the honor guests and was a farewell courtesy also for them as they left Monday to return to their posts. Lieut. Owens, who received his commission as second lieutenant in the air corps January 14 when he finished his navigator course at San Marcos, Texas, went to Roswell, N. M., to attend Bombardier School, and Pfc. Owens returned to Midland, Texas, where she is a member of the photography unit of the WAC.

Candles lighted the attractive dinner table that was centered with a bowl of mixed flowers. Covers were placed for the honor guests, their parents and Mr. and Mrs. Plum, others present including Mrs. Ned Plum, Mrs. Dick Plum, Mrs. Emmett Evans, Miss Patty Owens and Leland Siegwald of Circleville; Miss Helen Morris of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Washburn and Miss Katherine Eaton of Columbus and Miss Mary Plath Owens, Ohio State university.

Lieut. and Pfc. Owens motored to the Southwest with Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, Jr., who will join her husband at the same post in Roswell as that to which Lieut. Owens has been assigned.

Bowers-Dresbach Wedding

Trinity Methodist church of Chillicothe was the scene of the lovely wedding service Saturday when Miss Marjorie Ellen Dresbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Camp Dresbach, Hallsville, and Captain George Richard Bowers, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bowers, Laurelville, exchanged their nuptial vows at 3:30 p. m. Ferns and Oregon huckleberry foliage banked the altar, two tall baskets of white carnations and chrysanthemums and ivory tapers in cathedral candelabra completing the decorations.

Miss Marilyn Breckenridge of Dayton as soloist presented several nuptial selections preceding the single ring service conducted by the Rev. James H. Lyon.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a conventional wedding gown of white satin, the bodice being trimmed with lace, incrustated with seed pearls. She wore a knee-length veil of bridal illusion, falling from a Mary Queen-of-Scots cap trimmed with orange blossoms. The lovely pearl brooch pinned at the neck of her gown was the gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white shatterd carnations with an orchid in the center. The white carnation is the bride's sorority flower. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Snyder of Kingston, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warner, of East High street, served as maid of honor for Miss Dresbach. Gowned in pink satin and chiffon with plume of matching pink in her hair, she carried a bouquet of deep rose carnations.

Miss Ruth E. Bowers, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Virginia Mittenfior of Indianapolis, Ind., were in gowns similar to that of the maid of honor, but of heavenly blue with blue plumes in their hair. Their flowers were pink carnations.

Robert Bowers, brother of the bridegroom, and Harold Grant Dresbach, brother of the bride, acted as best men.

Immediately after the service, Mr. and Mrs. Dresbach entertained at a reception for 150 guests at the Town House, Chillicothe.

Miss Mary Lou Bacon of London and Miss Mary Ann Plymale and Miss Freda Gilmore of Gallipolis acted as hostesses at the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Pyle of Chillicothe entertained the bridal party at a buffet supper before

RATIONING AT A GLANCE

Proprietors of restaurants and institutional users of food were reminded today by George D. McDowell, chairman of the Pickaway County War Price and Rationing board, that February 1 is the deadline for filing OPA Form R-1307 Supplement with the local board for the purpose of obtaining rationed commodities beginning March 1.

The revision of General Ration Order No. 5, which affects all hotels, restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments, was designed to accomplish a more equitable distribution of food to commercial eating places. The plan involves primarily a change in the way these places will report their count on "the number of persons served". Heretofore, an institutional user included in this count all persons to whom either "food" or "refreshments" were served, both for the "base period" in December 1942, and for each current allotment period. Beginning January 1, these two groups are being counted separately.

Restaurant proprietors may obtain additional information from the food clerk of the War Price and Rationing Board.

More Fish
Effective Thursday, January 27, OPA's new schedule of community cents-per-pound ceiling prices for some forty varieties of fish goes into effect.

Up until now OPA has required that retail maximum prices of fish were to be determined by application of the retailer's customary markup but this has not been satisfactory in holding the line on prices.

Under the new regulation, the flat cents-per-pound markups will be applied much as the percentage markups are applied to groceries and vegetables. The price will vary according to the kind of fish, the dressing of that fish and the group of stores in which it is sold.

While it is difficult to predict specific prices for individual stores and communities because of difference in wholesale and transportation costs, it is estimated the prices will be close to prices paid in the Winter of 1942. In the Spring, prices should be lower.

RATION-FREE SHOE SALE
Retail shoe stores have been given an extra week, through February 5th, to make ration-free sales of limited quantities of women's low-priced shoes at $3 or less a pair.

Retailers had been granted a two-week period, January 17 through January 29, for the ration-free sales. The period is extended to three weeks in order to promote orderly buying and avoid a possible rush that would put heavy pressure on limited shoe personnel.

The action is expected to provide ample time for retail establishments to sell the allowed 15 percent of their September inventories of women's low-priced shoes ration-free.

Contradictory statements have been issued relative to the exchange of tokens for the overlapping brown and green stamps after February 27 when the new token plan goes into operation.

To correct this situation, amendment has been made to provide that when the new token plan becomes effective, green stamps K, L and M in War Ration Book Four and Brown Stamps Y and Z in War Ration Book 3, previously validated and which remain valid until March 20, may be used for rationed items and tokens will be given in exchange for both color of stamps. However, the brown and green stamps will continue to have the same point value as they now carry—8, 5, 2 and 1 point value. The blue and red stamps have a uniform value of ten points each.

Consumers are advised to spend their green and brown stamps first.

MEATS, CHEESE, BUTTER, FATS, CANNED FISH, CANNED MILK

R-S-T-U Expire
Brown Stamps R, S, T, U in Book 3 for the purchase of meats, butter, fats, canned fish and canned milk expire midnight, Saturday, January 29.

Brown Stamp U which became valid January 23, as well as W which will be good January 30th, will continue valid until February 26.

You will be using Green Stamps K, L and M in War Ration Book 4 for the purchase of processed foods from February 1 through March 20. These are the last green stamps on the page. They are also the last green stamps you will use, as blue stamps will go into operation February 27 when the token plan becomes effective.

COOK IN TRANSIT
PHILADELPHIA—G. I. cooks with U. S. Army Ordnance units can keep right on preparing meals even while a convoy rolls along. A new type of "mess" truck has been developed in which the main pieces of cooking equipment—the cabinet that serves as a meat cutting table, the large ice box and the three gas field-ranges—are so arranged around the interior of an ordinary cargo truck that mess personnel can work conveniently.

The plain truth about HAMILTON WATCHES and the WAR

Hamilton watches are among the quality jewelry products most difficult to secure, and we regret that we are unable to meet the full requirements of our friends and customers.

At the same time, however, we are proud to have our name associated with the name of a company, and with a product which is so important to America and to the winning of the war. Hamilton's pre-war reputation for quality and accuracy was the very reason why the production of Hamilton civilian watches was quickly reduced when the war started. For—as Army and Navy officials reasoned—such a reputation must be deserved... and so Hamilton was given some of the most difficult and most vital wartime assignments.

That's why the Hamilton watches you used to see in our windows, are no longer there. Instead, the ships of America's mighty battle fleet sail the seven seas with Hamilton chronometers providing the dependable time service necessary to accurate navigation. The bombers and fighters in the sky, and the tanks on the desert; the blimps, the submarines, PT boats—all these modern craft and vehicles of war must have accurate time available at all times. Time—Hamilton time—gets them where they want to go—and brings them back!

Today we can't promise to provide the Hamilton watch you want. But this we can promise: As soon as the war is won, we'll have Hamilton watches again. And they will be better than ever before—because of Hamilton's war-time experience designing, developing and producing the most accurate precision timekeeping instruments the world has ever known.

Obituary

Curtis Myrl Stoor was born December 6, 1910, the son of Charles and Mary Justus Stoor and departed this life January 4, 1944 aged 33 years, 28 days. In early childhood he was stricken with a heart ailment which he carried thru his whole life. On July 5, 1930 he was united in marriage to Martha Downs. To this union was born two sons, Curtis Eugene and James Franklin. He was baptized in infancy and on Easter Sunday, 1941, he united with the Pherson Methodist Church. His mother, Mrs. M. Stoor, and his father, Mr. Stoor, are both deceased. Besides his parents, his wife and two sons, he is survived by three sisters, Bernadine Caudy, Mildred Fredrick and Mary Louise Lewis, four brothers, Byron, Kenneth and David. Also one grandmother, Mrs. Sara Stoor.

Of a quiet disposition, Curtis was industrious and tedious in his work, honest in his business and always a ready friend. He will be sadly missed by a host of friends.
Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday, January 24, at the home of the bereaved, 1215 E. Main St. Burial will be in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery.
Sunset and Evening Star
And one clear call for me
And may there be no moaning of the bar
When I put out to sea
Twilight and evening bell
And after that the dark
And may there be no sadness of farewell
When I embark
For from out our bourne of time and place
The flood may bear me far
I hope to see my Pilot face to face
When I have crossed the bar.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to our many friends and neighbors who so kindly helped in any way during the sickness and death of our beloved son, Curtis Stoor. We especially wish to thank the ministers for their comforting words. M. Stoor and Sons.

FRISCH AT WORK AFTER JOURNEY TO NORTHLAND

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24.—Frankie Frisch, manager of the Pirates, was expected to arrive in Pittsburgh today to confer with President Bill Benswanger concerning plans completed during Frisch's visit with Uncle Sam's boys in the North Pacific islands.

Frisch expects to go over the reserve lists and take advantage of any propositions by which he might better his squad. He also will discuss the completed Spring conditioning schedule with its 14 exhibition games with the Cleveland, Chicago and Detroit Americans.

WINGS SET NEW MARK

By International News Service

The Detroit Red Wings chalked up the record shutout of National Hockey league history today after defeating the New York Rangers 15-0 before 12,293 Detroit fans.

The Wings, with a string of seven games without a defeat to their credit, now hold third place in the league standing, replacing the Boston Bruins, who lost to Montreal.

TORKLE WINS NORGE SKI CLUB'S CONTEST

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—No one was surprised today that Sergeant Torkle, who has been skiing ever since he was a kid in Trondheim, Norway, won the Class A event at the Norge Club Ski tournament at Wrigley field.

The chief surprise was that he did not win by a larger margin from Eugene Wilson of Coleraine, Minn., who compiled 152.1 points to 153.5 for Sergeant Torkle, who was on furlough from Camp Hale, Colo.

Third place yesterday went to Sverre Fredheim of Minneapolis with 146.1 points and fourth to Howard Jansen of the Norge Club, Chicago, 145.1 points.

Sergeant Torkle, who holds the North American distance record of 289 feet, was able to do but $9 on his best try on the Wrigley field slide, which admittedly was not built for record-making.

Ingvar Arneson of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., took the senior class event with 148.9 points; Chuck Platten of Camp Hale, Colo., the Class B event with 148.3 points, and 14-year-old Chester Zoberiski of Ironwood, Mich., the Class C contest with 145.3 points.

TWO HOT SHOT FIGHTING MEN TANGLING TONIGHT

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 24.—The Sheppard-Dorazio pairing in Pittsburgh tonight brings together two of the current "hot shots" in the heavyweight division with fans expecting a real battle worth their money.

The Philadelphia heavyweight, Gus Dorazio, was given a slight edge over "Hatchet Man" Sheppard with odds ranging from 6 to 5 to 9 to 5 in favor of Dorazio.

Numerous Folk Would Like Yankees, But At What Price, Is Catch

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Quick Pickups: Why the New York Yankees are the consistent storm centers of rumors dealing with the possible purchase of that club is almost impossible to figure out. The Yanks are good year in and year out, have a strong following, make (it is presumed) quite a bit of money and are in excellent hands.

Among others rumored ready to pick up the Yankees are Promoter Mike Jacobs and James A. Farley. It was only two weeks ago that the telephones buzzed and wires burned with the half-truth that Jacobs and had already approached President Ed Barrow.

That Jacobs is interested in the Yankees cannot be denied, but that he approached Barrow sounds like pure malarky, and Barrow himself has said that the nearest Mike ever got to him was the possible occupancy by both of the Yankee stadium during one of the home games.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, head of the beer clan and owner of the Yankees until his death, estimated the value of the Yankees, lock, stock and barrel, at $10,000,000. Jacobs was reported to be willing to put up $2,500,000, or a quarter of the original estimate.

Mike Nods Head
When informed of this, Jacobs nodded his head sagely, champed on his store teeth a couple of times, and said, "a bargain at the price." Outside of stating that he was "interested in the Yankees, just like a couple of million other people in New York," Mike gave no hint that he has designs on the New York American league club.

Mr. Jacobs has always played his hand so close that it looked like the paper on the wall, and the Yankee deal might be one of those hands.

But while Judge Landis is around, Mike will never own the Yankees. No gambling-connected persons allowed.

One of the most powerful factors at work in any of the bond drives is sports interest. The enthusiasm of millions of fans for favorite teams or athletes is a channel through which those bonds pour and keep pouring.

New York alone, the goal for four sports events connected with the 4th War Loan this week is $5,000,000.

A basketball double-header, a tennis show, an all-star sports broadcast and a hockey game will focus fan-interest on the bond drive, with the apparent certainty that the goal of $5,000,000 will be reached.

It was a great day last year when the local Journal-American staged a War Bond rally to the Polo grounds, featuring brilliant old-timers of baseball and an all-star game between Camp Cumberland and combined Yanks, Giants and Dodgers. If memory serves correctly, they pulled in $16 thousand dollars' worth of bonds in that one show, and the fans were rewarded with entertainment worth at least half that.

To Bigger, Better
You are going to see bigger and better shows as time rolls along. No one knows how many bond drives we will have to stage before the war is ended, but if they numbered in dozens, sports would still be equal to the task.

This is only a sidelight on the real story, but the recipients of the New York Baseball Writers' award as player of the year make up quite a colorful crowd. Beginning in 1931, those who took the award were Bill Terry, Lou Gehrig, Herb Pennock, Carl Hubbell, Dizzy Dean, Hank Greenberg, Tony Lazzeri, Joe DiMaggio, Jimmie Foxx, Buckly Walters, Bob Feller, DiMaggio again, Ted Williams and Bill Dickey.

It is the only team which can boast two Joe DiMaggios.

TIGERS EXPECT WILMINGTON TO ATTRACT CROWD

Argument Concerning Victor In 50-48 Game To Be Continued Friday

One of the biggest crowds of the current basketball season is expected to move into the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium Friday night when Circleville high Tiger and Wilmington Hurricane tangle.

The last time the teams met Circleville won 50-48 in the third overtime. The victory is still disputed, Wilmington claiming it led by one point after the first overtime and should have been declared the winner.

However, the game was permitted to continue with the Wilmington coach's permission under an agreement that a team to win in the overtime must be ahead by two points.

What the outcome of the argument will be is not yet known.

The Hurricane has a strong team, one capable of doing almost anything on the basketball court, so the Tigers will be pressed to win their South Central Ohio league encounter.

The invaders will be paced by Dave Daniel, tall center; Ad Copeland, high scoring guard, and Lambke, a brilliant forward.

The Friday night engagement is the only one on the Tiger schedule this week.

"BASIN STREET"

"Mr. and Mrs. North," who normally do their criminal investigating Wednesday nights over NBC, drop in to have a look into queer doings involving the finances of "The Chamber Music Society of Lower Basin Street," on Sunday at 8:15 p. m. While they're in the joint, they intend to see if some of the barbed wit of "Dr." Milton Cross can't be converted into wire entanglements for the army. The Norths, played by Joseph Curtin and Alice Frost, will be alternately supported and heckled by the Crooner Dick Todd and Maestro Paul Lavalle's sudy symphony.

"HOUR OF CHARM"

Marking Victor Herbert's birthday anniversary, February 1, Phil Spitalny and the "Hour of Charm" all-girl orchestra, choir and soloists dedicate their broadcast on January 30 at 9 p. m., over WLW, to music by the great American composer. The orchestra opens the program with "Pan Americana," and the soprano Vivien sings the "Italian Street Song" from "Naughty Marietta." The orchestra plays "Indian Summer." The contralto Francine, the violinist Evelyn and the choir join in "Gypsy Love Song" from "The Fortune Teller," and Evelyn plays as her violin solo "Kiss Me Again" from "Mlle. Modiste." Kathleen's contralto solo is "A Kiss in the Dark" from "Orange Blossoms," and the program closes with "Sweet Hour of Prayer," dedicated to the March of Dimes.

KAY KYSER

Kay Kyser takes his "College of Musical Knowledge" crew to the Navy Air Base at Los Alamitos, Calif., for the broadcast on Wednesday, January 26, at 9 p. m., over WLW. Georgia Carroll, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibble, Sully Mason and the rest of the gang will be on hand to entertain and quiz the flying sailors.

VIOLATING CONVENTIONS

THERE ARE several situations in which it pays to make opening leads which are contrary to the accepted conventions. One of these conventions is that an honor lead from an unbid suit against a No Trump game contract shows, except when it is a king from ace-king and others, that the leader holds the card immediately below the one offered, plus some other card at least as high as the nine, but not the one directly above the card led.

Pass 1 NT Pass 2
Pass 3 Pass 3 NT

From West's spade suit, with "touching honors," the accepted lead is the fourth best, the 7. But if that is led, South makes his contract plus overtricks. He should play low from dummy. If East ducks, the 10 wins and South runs all the tricks. If East plays the A, he makes the Q a certain third-round stopper, assuring South 11 tricks.

But if West leads the J, South is definitely beaten, with the cards lying as they are. If the Q goes on it from dummy, the A wins, causing the 10 to get dropped by the K on the return, and West runs the suit. Nothing can be done by South to save himself.

There is only one situation, among all the possible ones, in which the J lead is worse than the 7. That is when South holds three headed by the Q. In that event, the J lead enables South to make his contract. If East ducks, South wins with the Q and runs his winning tricks. If East uses the A, South plays low, and on the return uses his 10 to force the K, leaving his Q high. With that situation, the 7 lead would beat the contract, as East could put on his A and return a low one through the Q up to the K-J, assuring run of the suit.

The greatest danger of the J lead, however, is that it destroys somewhat the conventional meaning of honor leads by the partnership, making them harder to read in cases where accurate reading is vital to the defense. Consequently, such departures should not be too frequent, and then only when judgment calls strongly for them.

Local Campaign Opens To Reach $279,000 War Bond Goal.

INITIAL EFFORT TO BE DIRECTED IN CIRCLEVILLE

Campaign In Villages To Be Conducted After Success In City

SERIES E BEING BOOSTED

Back The Attack Message To Be Carried To Homes And Factories

Circle residents, men, women and children, become just average folk this week when the Fourth War Loan drive is intensified with a concerted effort being made to clear up the city's $279,000 share of the county's $1,244,000 quota.

Sunday was marked by gatherings of team captains and their team members who were discussing plans for the drive which was started Monday and was to continue through the week. Every effort will be made this week to put Circleville over the top.

After the Circleville quota has been reached, efforts of the Fourth War Loan committee will be centered on all villages and townships of the county.

Teams In Action

Teams announced Saturday by Clark Will, chairman of the Fourth War Loan drive, were to swing into action Monday morning, keeping up their work until the end of the week.

In this campaign, in contrast to previous drives, only the sales to individuals will be counted in the first half of the drive.

Up to February 1, emphasis will be placed solely on selling the $25 to $1,000 "people's" E War Bonds, and the Series F and G and other government securities to individual buyers.

The local War Loan organization joins in the nation-wide appeal for sales of at least an extra $100 bond to each income earner any time during the drive, but preferably before the end of January.

The Circleville campaign committee is expected to carry the back-the-attack message to homes, factory benches and offices in the community.

"Big Money" Later

"Big money" will be called into the campaign after February 1 as solicitors take orders from industries, firms and other investment institutions exclusive of commercial banks.

Chairman Will has pointed out that the county's overall quota is $1,244,000 including $588,000 for individuals and $656,000 for corporations.

Tom O. Gilliland heads the Circleville drive, while J. Wallace Crist as vice chairman.

The Ohio quota of the government's $14,000,000,000 campaign fund is $672,000,000 of which $174,000,000 is in E bonds. This total of E bonds is $33,000,000 more E bonds than Ohioans have purchased in any previous War Loan drive.

PRIVATE FUNERAL RITES FOR MARGARET EBERT

Private funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home, 155 East Mound street, for Mrs. Margaret Ebert, who died Saturday afternoon. The Rev. G. L. Troutman will officiate.

Mrs. Ebert, a lifelong member of Trinity Lutheran church, was its oldest member at the time of her death. Had she lived until March 29, she would have been 89 years old.

Friends may call at the Ebert home until Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Ebert had been in failing health for the last few years. She had been seriously ill for three weeks.

Mrs. Ebert's only survivor is her daughter, Miss Mary, of the East Mound street address. Her husband, Charles R., died in 1895. Mrs. Ebert was the daughter of Jacob and Rosina Kellstadt.

Pall bearers will include Milton Kellstadt, Edward E. Ebert, Wilson Dunkel, Edwin Walters, J. Austin Dowden and Durward Dowden.

Arrangements are in charge of L. M. Mader.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

ONE MINUTE PULPIT
Remove from me the way of lying; and grant me thy law graciously.—Psalm 119:29.

Democratic executive committee is scheduled to meet Monday evening in the common pleas courtroom of the courthouse. Many matters of business are to be discussed.

A daughter was born Monday morning in Berger hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Arledge of Tarleton.

ESHELMAN SOY BEAN MEAL AIDS OHIO FARMERS

Soy bean oil meal, manufactured by Eshelman Milling Co. and Ralston Purina Co. of Circleville, is being distributed through several south central Ohio counties to help farmers carry on their production program.

Twenty tons of soy bean oil meal have been shipped to Logan for distribution to 75 farmers who have placed their orders with the county extension service office.

A larger supply has been shipped to Clinton county for distribution there.

The oil meal is bought by the Commodity Credit Corporation through a program which requires local processors to set aside 20 percent of the oil meal product for distribution throughout the territories they serve.

YOUTH ON PROBATION

William Clayton Shaeffer, 16, of Laurelville Route 1, was placed on probation Saturday by Judge Lemuel B. Weldon in juvenile court after a hearing on charges of disturbing the peace. Young Shaeffer was arrested last week by city police when his automobile was found parked on Western avenue. Two young Laurelville girls were in the automobile with him at 2 o'clock in the morning. Shaeffer was put in jail on a destruction of property charge brought in Justice of the Peace B. T. Hedges' court after some jars were broken. The charge, however, was reduced to disturbing the peace and the youth was ordered to stay out of court.

PEDESTRIANS INJURED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Two New Holland men suffered head and body injuries at midnight Saturday when they were struck by a truck when they were walking in Route 22 east of the village.

Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontious said the men were Pete Seyfang, 58, and John S. Moon, 62. Moon gave his residence as Raridan, O., but the deputy said he had been staying with Seyfang.

While neither man is seriously injured, both required medical treatment in the office of Dr. Charles Davis, New Holland, Moon for head injuries and hip bruises and Seyfang for cuts and bruises. They were taken to the doctor's office in the Kirkpatrick ambulance.

Pontious, who investigated with Highway Patrolman Duling, said Seyfang and Moon were walking toward their home when the accident happened. The deputy said one of the men had fallen into the highway and that William Helsel, 51, of New Holland Route 1, had been unable to avoid hitting both of them. He turned his truck almost sideways in the road to avoid the accident, but the vehicle, belonging to McKinley Kirk, struck both pedestrians. Helsel was accompanied by his daughter, Annabel.

The accident happened just east of the New Holland corporation.

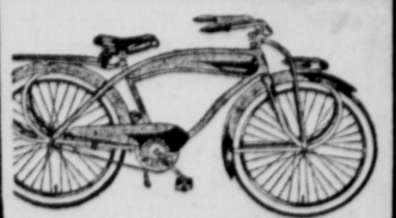

SEAL SALE REPORT TO BE PRESENTED THURSDAY

Final report of the 1943 Christmas seal sale will be made Thursday at 3 p. m. when the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health association conducts its meeting in the offices of Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner.

Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, executive secretary of the association, said Monday that the meeting is open to the public, all persons interested in the work of the association being invited to attend.

SHANER POSTS BOND

Harold Shaner, 30, of Worthington, posted $10 bond at 3:50 a. m. Sunday in police court after his arrest by patrolmen for reckless operation of his automobile. Shaner was driving 62 miles an hour on Court street, police said.

NO HALFWAY INFLATION

Economic Stabilizer Vinson had an off-the-record meeting with members of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee the other day which threw significant light on the subsidy-inflation fight.

Minnesota's Senator Ball, Republican, urged that Vinson consider Senator Aiken's proposal of food stamps, by which people with fixed incomes would get stamps similar to those issued in WPA relief days and would be able to buy their food cheaper. Others not receiving fixed incomes would have to pay higher prices.

Judge Vinson's reaction to this plan was instantaneous.

"Do you want me to put every wife of a soldier or Army officer in the category of a pauper, Senator?" he said. "They all have fixed incomes. So do school teachers, policemen, firemen, and all city and government officials. But they are not paupers. I'm sure you would be the last to have them declared so."

Then Senator Danaher, Connecticut Republican, spoke up and asked if there wasn't some compromise that could be worked out regarding stabilization.

"What I'm trying to do," replied Judge Vinson, "is carry out the program you gentlemen passed in Congress. You voted for stabilization. If you have stabilization, you don't have it for some and not for others. There is no such thing as halfway stabilization. You can't compromise. Either you keep the cost of living down—which is stabilization—or you let it go up—which is inflation."

The Senators couldn't answer that one. But they still don't seem to like the stabilization plan for which they voted.

GEORGIA SHAVES POLL TAX

It hasn't made headlines, but the quiet work of Georgia's efficient Governor Arnall toward eliminating the Georgia poll tax is being carefully studied here. Without any fanfare, Governor Arnall has just about eliminated the tax in a State which has been wedded to it since the Civil War.

What the Georgia Governor did first was to remove the poll tax on people over 60—on the ground that they had paid taxes all their lives and should not be asked to pay any more.

Then he got the legislature to eliminate the tax on younger voters.

ers (Georgians begin voting at the age of 18) on the ground that they didn't have much money and could not afford to pay a poll tax.

Then he got the tax eliminated for members of the Army, Navy, Marines and other services.

Thus, gradually, a very large segment of the Georgia population has been relieved of paying the poll tax, and it should be only a brief step to elimination of it altogether.

FDR'S K RATIONS

It has been revealed that the President's plane on his trip to Cairo and Teheran was an Army transport of the DC4 type, a big four-engine Douglas, capable of carrying fifty passengers. Churchill has a luxurious airliner specially built for the Prime Minister. But the President rides in whatever equipment the Army can provide at the moment.

Otis Bryan, the man who flew Roosevelt's plane, says the President is "a marvelous traveler; he ate the K rations like the rest of us, and demanded no special attention."

Bryan, a vice president of TWA, is one of the first four-engine pilots in the world. He also piloted

And You say you "Can't Afford" an Extra War Bond?

THEY say that after a while we become callous to death and suffering.

They say that in wartime people cannot understand the little heartaches and tragedies that touch individual lives. For when death and destruction occur on a mass scale, what happened to this one American soldier may not mean so much to you.

But to his parents and to a girl back home, his death means the end of everything.

It means the end of his dreams of a happy home, a family, a future...

Think of this boy for just a moment, please. Think of him... of his family... of what might have been?

Can you, in all decency, say that you "can't afford" an extra War Bond? We know you'll come through—as you have in every other War Loan Drive—and INVEST IN AT LEAST ONE EXTRA HUNDRED DOLLAR BOND today. That's the least you can do. You should do more, if you can. Invest $200, $300, $400—as much as possible. Remember, a hundred dollar Series E War Bond costs only seventy-five dollars. You get back $4.00 at maturity for every $3.00 you put up.

Get that extra hundred dollar Bond today

We're not going to let the boys of Pickaway county (and the nation) "down"!

BLOW AT ALLIED CAUSE

Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Peru,
Other Republics To Back United States

BULLETIN
CARACAS, Venezuela, Jan. 24—The Venezuelan government today decided not to recognize the new Bolivian regime and ordered the Venezuelan charge d'affaires to start for home.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—The United States government will take strong action today to block what is believed to be an Axis-inspired Argentine plot to set up a group of anti-Allied military dictators in South America.

The American government's action will be in the form of an official statement to the following effect:

1. Refusal to recognize the new military government of Bolivia.
2. Announcement that the United States government is now convinced foreign influences friendly to the defense of the American republic inspired and aided the recent Bolivian revolution.
3. Disclosure that evidence has been obtained linking Argentine nationalists to the Bolivian revolt.
4. A declaration that the Argentine-Bolivian situation adversely affects the Allied cause in the Western Hemisphere.

Back United States
Brazil, Mexico, Chile, Peru and other American republics are expected to follow the United States in announcing their refusal to recognize the new Bolivian government. Uruguay and Cuba already have declared their intention to withhold recognition.

The possibility was seen in Latin American diplomatic quarters that some form of economic pressure also may be brought to bear soon against Argentina and Bolivia.

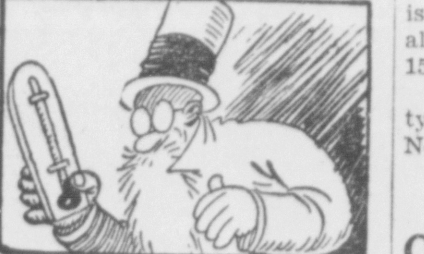

The United States government's decision to refuse recognition of the Bolivian military regime follows (Continued on Page Two)

NAZIS URGING POPE TO LEAVE VATICAN CITY

LONDON, Jan. 24—The German ambassador to the Vatican was reported by the Daily Express today to have begged Pope Pius XII to flee Rome and go to the principality of Liechtenstein.

The Nazi official was reported to have cautioned the pontiff that "the capital is in danger and anything may happen."

Paramushiru Attacks May Be First of New Series Aimed At Japs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—Fresh attacks on Paramushiru in the Japanese-held Kuriles were interpreted in naval circles today as the possible beginning of a series of important offensive assaults against the enemy this year.

The Navy's announcement that four raids were carried out against Paramushiru in a three day period brought speculation that another Allied invasion blow was about to fall somewhere along the vast Pacific front.

Just where the Allied amphibious forces would strike next was a matter of conjecture and a military secret, but naval leaders have forecast that the enemy would not be given a chance to prepare powerful defenses at any one point.

Recently Admiral William F. Halsey, Jr., South Pacific commander, told newsmen 1944 would be important in the Pacific and that the Japanese would be hit where they least expected it.

Thus the new offensive—the first major blow of this year—may come anywhere on the long front from the Kuriles to the Philippines.

Some of the moves which may come soon probably will be diversionary thrusts to prevent the Japanese from guessing where the real blow is to strike.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, in a recent speech, said the United States now has powerful bases and forces in the Aleutians in anticipation of blows against the enemy across the short northern route to Tokyo.

Division of Paramushiru has been discussed as a possibility by military and naval experts for some time. In American hands the island would provide an important stepping stone from which to wrest other bases in that area for the bombings of the Japanese homeland.

In the central Pacific powerful American forces were poised in the recently-conquered Gilberts for a possible thrust against the Jap-held Marshall islands or other bases in the mandated area.

Allied forces continued heavy pressure in the southwest Pacific to clear the Japanese off New Guinea and to capture or wipe out the important enemy base at Rabaul. Once these two aims are accomplished Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces could strike westward into the East Indies or to the Philippines.

MISSOURI SET TO ENTER WAR
Mightiest Warship Of All Completed Nine Months Ahead Of Schedule

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—The 45,000-ton battleship USS Missouri—"mightiest of them all"—will slide down the ways of the Brooklyn Navy Yard Saturday, January 29, nine months ahead of schedule.

The Missouri, a sister ship of the USS Iowa and the fourth of her class, has an overall length of 880 feet, only 149 feet less than that of the Normandie, which was salvaged recently from her berth in the North river.

For security reasons detailed specifications of the Missouri cannot be disclosed. The navy, however, has released certain facts about the ship whose complement of guns and other armament will make her one of the most formidable craft afloat.

The Missouri when at sea will displace enough water to flood 46 acres of land, 933 city lots or an area equivalent to one sixth of the island of Manhattan.

The area of decks or platforms is 418,000 square feet, or the equivalent of a 15-story office building 150 feet square.

The 90 miles of piping of various types in the ship would reach from New York to Philadelphia. The (Continued on Page Two)

WORLD RELIEF FACING FIRST TEST IN HOUSE

Resolution Providing $1,350,000,000 Fund Up For Approval

WOULD SET PRECEDENT

Loss Of Big Loans For Same Purpose Following Last War Are Cited

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—America's proposed participation with other nations in postwar rehabilitation of battle-torn countries faced its first major test in the house today.

House approval of a resolution authorizing this nation to join in the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration to the extent of one billion, 350 million dollars would be the first time in history the United States appropriated funds for such international cooperation.

Rep. Brown (D) N. Y., chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, lauded the resolution and predicted it will lead to eventual cooperation of the United Nations toward "peace and security" in the world.

"This is the first time congress ever appropriated money to provide American participation in a United Nations effort to put war-stricken people back on their feet," Bloom said.

Proof Of Cooperation

"When the peoples of the world see how well this sort of cooperation works they will agree that international agreements can be made to stop war," he continued.

Meanwhile, strong opposition to UNRRA arose in the house led by Rep. Gearhart (R) Cal., who labeled the resolution a scheme "of President Roosevelt's to by-pass the Constitution and approve treaties through the executive branch of the government instead of the senate."

Although conceding the measure was assured house approval today, Gearhart maintained it is "a subterfuge and unnecessary."

He pointed to already liberated countries such as Tunisia, Sicily and half of Italy where the victorious Allies are "carrying on nicely in relief and rehabilitation work under existing statutes."

Working On Treaty

"They are working toward a treaty of peace without senate approval," he warned, "and designed to fit the President's own ideas."

RED TAPE SEEN AS STRANGLING FOOD SUPPLIES

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—The American Institute of Food Distribution reported today that the nation may expect a decrease in food production this year as the result of Washington's delay in announcing a 1944 food program.

"In normal seasons," the report said, "vegetable packers commence contracting acreage early in January. Early action is always necessary because most growers decide during Winter on how land will be planted."

Under these circumstances, the survey declared, it is essential that OPA advise canners in good time "approximately what prices they can expect."

YANK TRAINED CHINESE FORCES PRESSING DRIVE

NEW DELHI, Jan. 24—American-trained Chinese forces under command of Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell were reported today to be pressing a drive toward Taihpa Ga in the Hukwang valley of Burma. The Chinese forces already have taken Mingru Ga, a commune said.

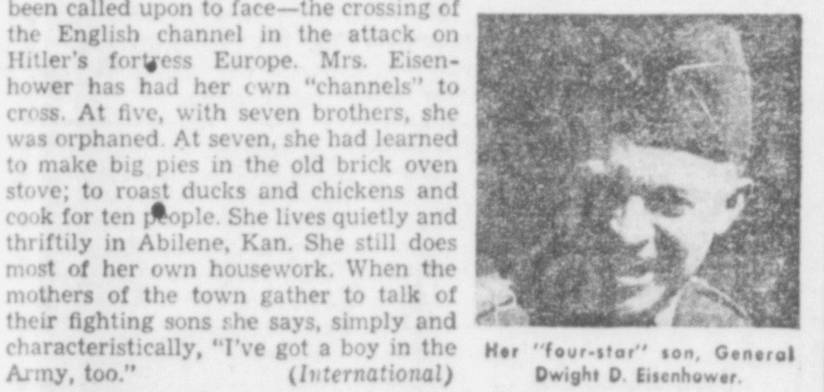

One strong Jap position in the Taro area was completely occupied despite the fact that the enemy sent in reinforcements.

MOTHER

A new and exclusive picture of Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Eisenhower, 83-year-old mother of General Dwight Eisenhower, leader of the Allied invasion army. She dropped her chores around the house to sit for this remarkable portrait.

WHEN General Dwight Eisenhower made a secret and hurried visit to the United States enroute from the Mediterranean to England to head the Allied invasion forces, he took time out to fly to Kansas for a brief reunion with his family and particularly his mother, Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Eisenhower. To this 83-year-old mother of an eminent son, the visit must have been particularly gratifying. To the nation it was a typically American gesture, the successful son returning home for his mother's blessing before tackling the toughest job he has yet been called upon to face—the crossing of the English channel in the attack on Hitler's fortress Europe. Mrs. Eisenhower has had her own "channels" to cross. At five, with seven brothers, she was orphaned. At seven, she had learned to make big pies in the old brick oven stove; to roast ducks and chickens and cook for ten people. She lives quietly and thrifty in Abilene, Kan. She still does most of her own housework. When the mothers of the town gather to talk of their fighting sons she says, simply and characteristically, "I've got a boy in the Army, too."

Her "four-star" son, General Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Circleville Jehovah's Witness Distributes Booklets In Army Camp

That a member of the Circleville Jehovah's Witness sect is being permitted to carry on the work of his organization in one of Uncle Sam's biggest military installations—Fort Knox, Ky.—was revealed Monday in a letter received from Daniel Grubb, formerly of South Washington street.

"The records will show to date," Grubb wrote, "that I have placed upward of 500 pieces of Watchtower literature including books, booklets, consolation magazines and King James Version Bibles. Since emerging from prison (on my own terms) I have been privileged to visit thousands of men in hospital wards and tell them my good and comforting news."

Grubb's declaration that he is permitted to carry on his work at Fort Knox was contained in a letter to The Editor of The Herald in which he expressed "disappointment" at "not getting to share the column with John and Matthew." John and Matthew are Daniel's brothers, both of whom are scheduled to go on trial February 1 in U. S. district court, Columbus, for being draft dodgers. Both refused to report for induction into the army.

Refuses Army Duty

Daniel reported for induction, and then refused to report for assignment at the end of his furlough. He was arrested for being (Continued on Page Two)

Victim Of Japs Backs Bond Drive

"I'll Do My Part, You Do Yours," Wounded Youth Writes To Father

A Circleville soldier who was threatened with total blindness for 78 days after being wounded fighting the Japanese in the Pacific theatre of war offered in a letter today to his parents to make a swap with his father, Elmer Brown, 212 Pearl street.

"I still have a job to do," the soldier wrote, "and I intend to do it and to do it willingly, if Dad will do his part by buying War Bonds."

The soldier is Corporal Noah F. Brown, a member of a field artillery unit with the 37th Division which has driven the Japs off Munda and now is clearing them out of Bougainville.

Corporal Brown is still in a hospital. He will have to wear glasses the rest of his life. "But," he writes, "thank God I am able to see at all."

The soldier's eye bandages were removed for the first test 78 days after he was wounded. "I was overjoyed at that brief glimpse of daylight," he wrote his parents.

The corporal is now able to see with aid of glasses, and he intends to keep on fighting.

Corporal Brown is just one of almost 2,000 Circleville and Pickaway county boys fighting all over the world to destroy the German and Japanese war machines.

Every one of the boys fighting Uncle Sam's war knows what kind of a job he has to do. Fox holes, treacherous Japs, cruel Germans, dive bombing planes, knee-deep mud, malaria, concussion from heavy shell explosions, and scores of other things are being faced each day by these boys. And they know they have a job to do.

They also know how well their relatives and friends on the home front are doing their work to help win the war, the principal immediate task being support for the Fourth War Loan.

MARS CARRIES BAD NEWS FOR JAPS TO HAWAII

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 24—The Navy's giant flying boat Mars rode at anchor in Pearl Harbor today after completing its first flight from San Francisco in the naval air transport service.

Laden with 14 tons of war cargo, the sky freight train skidded to a landing yesterday, accomplishing the overnight hop from the mainland in 15 hours, nine minutes.

Actual flying time, however, was nearly two hours less, for Lieut. Comdr. W. E. Coney, skipper of the Mars, brought the ship into Hawaiian skies before dawn and cruised around for one hour, 51 minutes, waiting for the sunrise.

Despite the early hour, the Mars' crew of 15 and her 20 passengers, among them several correspondents, were greeted by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

"Pretty nice way to travel, wasn't it?" the admiral asked. All agreed that it was, because the Mars, besides carrying tons of bad news for Tokyo, has many conveniences, including a shower bath.

FIGHTER PLANE, FORT COLLIDE; SIX ARE KILLED

FORT MYERS, Fla., Jan. 24—Six men were killed and four others were listed as missing in a mid-air crash between a Flying Fortress and a fighter plane, the Fort Myers Army base announced today. Both ships plunged into the Gulf of Mexico six miles north of Collier City, Fla.

Six bodies were recovered. The only survivor of the crash was the pilot of the smaller ship.

BATTLE ON GUSTAV LINE

Yanks Forced Back At One Point—Russians Continue Bitter Attacks

By International News Service
Rome was reported within Allied artillery range today as an Allied communique officially announced that British and American amphibious forces which landed on the Italian west coast below the Italian capital have occupied the port of Nettuno and penetrated four to six miles inland.

Observers believed that the landing force also was in possession of Anzio, another Tyrrhenian seacoast town near Nettuno, since the Allied beachhead extends several miles in this area, which is within 30 miles of the Italian capital.

A communique from the headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland-Wilson announcing the capture of Nettuno said there is still no sign of effective German resistance near the bridgehead, which is being expanded constantly as more and more troops and equipment are put ashore.

Huns Strike Hard

The Germans meanwhile continued to counter-attack fiercely along their now outflanked Gustav defense line in the Apennine mountains to the south. Most of the enemy counter-assaults were immediately repulsed by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army, but American units directly before Cassino, key gateway to a wide highway to Rome, were forced to relinquish their position on the west bank of the Rapido river.

The Yanks were reported to have withdrawn when their ammunition failed, but in their retreat they warded off the Nazis at bayonet point.

Action at the Adriatic end of the Italian land front was limited to patrol sorties by troops of the British Eighth Army.

Aerial Support

Continued aerial support of the Allied ground troops in Italy was reported from Algiers. Among targets assaulted by Allied heavy bombers were the Nazi-held airport at Rieti and railroad communications at Porto Civitanova, Siena and Ceprano. Rieti is in central Italy northeast of Rome. Port Civitanova is on the Adriatic coast and Siena lies along the Rome-Ceprano rail line near the Fifth Army front.

In addition, medium bombers at Avezzano, and fighters and fighter-bombers lashed at enemy communications at Fondi, Ceccano and in the Sezze area. In all these actions, two enemy planes were shot down and three Allied aircraft were listed as missing.

Axis Europe was also under renewed aerial assault from the west. Martin Marauder bombers of the U. S. Eighth force and British medium bombers attacked targets in northern France today in the wake of night assaults by RAF bombers on objectives in western Germany. The air ministry said enemy waters were mined in the night operations.

Hun Pivot Falling

Late reports from the blazing northern front in Russia, below Leningrad, said Red army units are closing in on Chudovo, vital Nazi-held pivot between Tsmo and Novgorod, with the Russians within four miles of their goal.

Five hundred miles to the south, other Soviet forces pushed still further into the Pripet marshes of White Russia and threatened to join forces soon with the first (Continued on Page Two)

lowed diplomatic consultations with the governments of 18 other American republics.

Argentine Plot
A majority of these governments are now convinced that Argentine nationalists, including members of the Ramirez regime, have been endeavoring through secret agents to bring about the overthrow of governments in neighboring countries for the purpose of establishing military dictatorships sympathetic to Argentina's official policies.

Axis agents also are believed to be actively encouraging this plot with a view of creating a second front of political chaos and confusion in South America.

The Peruvian government disclosed last week that it had uncovered a pro-Axis conspiracy to stage a revolt in that country. The British also arrested the Argentine consul in Trinidad, charging him with being an enemy agent.

The Argentine plot to establish military dictatorships in neighboring countries is believed to be prompted primarily by a desire to strengthen the position at home of the Ramirez regime, which is known to be lacking popular support because of its refusal to support the Allied cause.

U. S. Has Evidence

The American government is in possession of evidence showing that members of the new Bolivian regime held several meetings with Argentine nationalists prior to the revolt in Bolivia. A good deal of the evidence in this government's possession cannot be revealed because it would jeopardize the sources of information.

Meanwhile, Dr. Enrique De Lozada, confidential agent of the new Bolivian government in Washington, announced he has resigned his post because of dissatisfaction with the policies of the regime in La Paz.

MAYOR STILL UNDECIDED ON SAFETY CHIEF

Mayor Ben H. Gordon has not yet reached a decision concerning his new safety director to succeed Clarence Helvering, who has been acting in that role since early last Spring.

Council refused to approve an ordinance combining the two jobs, voting four to three against such a move, thus making it necessary for the mayor to pick a new city official.

Mr. Helvering has been serving as service director and as safety director since E. W. Weller resigned the latter position early last year.

The mayor said names of several persons had been submitted as possible nominees.

The safety director supervises police and fire departments, Berger hospital and relief.

MRS. MYRTLE L. CLIFTON FOUND DEAD AT HOME

Mrs. Myrtle Lucile Clifton, 60, was found dead Sunday at 6:45 p. m. by Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Dewey, 220 South Scioto street, with whom she roomed. Mrs. Clifton is believed to have died of an organic heart Saturday evening, the Deweys finding her after they returned from a trip.

Mrs. Clifton was a native of Terre Haute, Ind., and is survived by a son, John, of Columbus, and two daughters, Alice Clifton of Peru, Ind., and Mrs. Lloyd Henry of Berkeley, Cal. She came to Circleville in June, 1941, to make her home with her son, who is connected with the Stansbury-Stout Corporation. A brother, Edward Lawrence of Indianapolis, also survives.

The funeral will be Thursday in Peru, Ind. Arrangements for services are in charge of the Albaugh Co.

Ukrainian army, now far across the pre-war Polish frontier.

In the Pacific theatre, a Japanese stronghold at the head of the Faria river in northeastern New Guinea was wrested from the Nipponese, who left 100 dead on the battlefield. Australian jungle troops of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command who scored this victory followed up by plunging farther up the Ramu valley.

Allied warplanes ranging widely over the southwest Pacific sank six Nipponese ships, one a 1,000-ton merchant vessel which was sent to the bottom in a strafing attack by two P-58 Lightning fighter planes. Long-range fighters which sank three other vessels off Timor island also shot down an enemy bomber.

Hit Japs at Night

Night-fighters have joined the 24-hour cavalcade of Allied planes pounding Alexishafen and other Japanese bases along the New Guinea coast. Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney's headquarters revealed today.

With characteristic tenacity, despite heavy daylight bombings, the Japs still were operating planes from the Alexishafen strip. The other night Major Carroll Smith, of El Centro, Cal., flying a night-fighter, laid a trap.

Just as the last light flickered over the palm trees, he sighted an enemy dive-bomber circling the drome. The Japs had moved a mobile anti-aircraft gun to the center of the strip to protect their ships, but ignoring its fire Smith went in to attack.

"The Jap pilot saw me coming and started to make a 180-degree turn," Smith said. "He only made 140," he added.

Last night Lieutenants Richard Ferris, of Nyack, N. Y., and Russell Carriger, of Whittier, Cal., made a coastal sweep at dusk. They strafed a bomber on the ground and blew up a ship, they reported.

"We found them sitting around a fire in a barge base," Ferris explained. "All we left was the fire."

COUNTY RED CROSS TO HELP PLAN FUND DRIVE

Pickaway county Red Cross is expected to be represented at a War Fund campaign meeting being held Monday and Tuesday in Columbus. Plans for the February-March campaign will be outlined at the meeting.

Carl C. Leist, Pickaway county chairman, said that personnel of a delegation to attend the meeting has not yet been decided, although it is certain that someone will be there.

Mr. Leist said the chapter has not yet completed plans for its

DRAFT BOARD GETS CALL FOR EARLY FEBRUARY

Pickaway county draft board received notice Monday from state headquarters to send another contingent of 1-A registrants before the army medical team early in February for pre-induction examinations.

The contingent will be about three times as large as the group which went to Huntington, W. Va., last Saturday for pre-induction tests. There were 16 men in that group. The local board has not yet received notice from Huntington concerning how many of the men in the contingent were found physically satisfactory for army or navy service.

The men accepted return home as civilians to await their call into service. These calls are expected at the end of 21 days, notices being sent out from the local board office.

The next contingent to be assigned for pre-induction tests will go to Columbus instead of to Huntington.

The board has been given no information concerning the exact date that the men found acceptable Saturday might be called. Neither has the board been told when the group leaving early next month will be summoned for assignment and classification, although it is believed possible that they may be called before the end of February.

It is almost certain that men found acceptable in the Huntington examination will be called for service in February.

Men found acceptable in the group going to the medical center early in February may also be called into service in February since the 21-day minimum period allowed between examination and induction will not run into March.

MRS. KATE B. DUNLAP DIES AS RESULT OF MISHAP

Mrs. Kate B. Dunlap, 81, widow of Nelson J. Dunlap, died Sunday at 9:30 p. m. in Berger hospital of complications following a hip fracture suffered December 23. She was injured in a fall at the home of her sister, Mrs. William Russell, of Fulton, where she was visiting.

Mrs. Dunlap, a former resident of Kingston, had lived with her daughter, Mrs. H. O. Pile, of 122 Edison avenue, since the death of Mr. Dunlap.

Mrs. Dunlap was born June 23, 1862, in Guernsey county, her parents being Walter Bell and Sarah Thomas Barnett. Mrs. Dunlap had been twice married. Her first husband was William Boggs of Kingston. Mrs. Pile being their daughter. Other survivors in addition to her sister and daughter are three grandchildren.

Mrs. Dunlap was a member of the Kingston Presbyterian church. Funeral services will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Mader chapel with the Rev. Carl Kennedy of the First Presbyterian church of this city officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant cemetery, Kingston.

Friends may call at the Mader funeral home after Tuesday noon.

WORLD RELIEF FACING FIRST TEST IN HOUSE

Resolution Providing $1,350,000,000 Fund Up For Approval

"Mr. Roosevelt is endeavoring to avoid the necessity of outlining the peace settlement proposals to the American people."

Bloom, meantime, held it cost the United States three and one-half billion dollars—in the shape of a loan which this nation "did not expect to get back"—to provide relief for war-torn countries after World War I.

"This time, instead of fooling ourselves, we are giving a certain amount of money for a broader purpose than was achieved last time," he said, adding that America will spend only one billion, 350 million dollars for the purpose after the present war.

J. D. MASON TO DIRECT LOCAL MARCH OF DIMES

Circleville's March of Dimes campaign, in which local contributions will go to President Roosevelt's Warm Springs, Ga., foundation fighting infantile paralysis, will be launched Tuesday with J. Donald Mason acting as director of the local drive.

March of Dimes leaders in Columbus had asked Mr. Mason to conduct a President's Birthday Ball here next Saturday, but because of the lack of time to prepare for such an event it was planned to conduct the campaign in a different manner.

Mr. Mason is preparing glass jars to be put in business houses in Circleville. Persons interested in helping in the fight against infantile paralysis are asked to make their contributions in these jars.

The containers will be placed in the business houses Tuesday.

The March of Dimes campaign is conducted throughout the nation.

VICTORY IN '44?

J. W. KINSEY, Montclair avenue: "These new actions in Italy are certainly forerunners of bigger things to come. I look for additional thrusts into Nazi-held territory in several places before the big invasion starts. When that over-channel drive opens the end of the European war can probably be counted in terms of days."

The high schools of New York City graduate more than 50,000 pupils each year.

N. L. Cochran Re-elected Boy Scout Chairman For Local District

Norbert L. Cochran, manager of the Circleville plant of the Container Corporation of America, was elected Sunday at the annual organization meeting of the Pickaway county district Boy Scouts of America to serve another year as district chairman.

The organization session was conducted in the Methodist church with Stuart Vila of Lancaster, area council executive, supervising the meeting.

Mr. Cochran has served successfully during the last year. He outlined plans for extension of Boy Scout work during the next year, calling on more of the county's parents to serve on district and local troop committees. Need for leadership was stressed by Mr. Cochran, declaring that refusal of sufficient adults to take an interest in Boy Scout work had resulted in the program's slowness of development here.

GRANT EMPLOYEES SET QUOTA FOR BOND DRIVE

Two thousand dollars in War Bonds and Stamps is the quota employees of the W. T. Grant store at 129 West Main street have pledged themselves to sell during the Fourth War Loan Drive, M. C. Lee, store manager, announced today.

This will amount to $200 in Bonds and Stamps for every employee in the store.

Employees will sell stamps to customers, friends, neighbors and relatives during the drive. Each person who sells at least $200 in bonds will receive a Treasury department citation of merit. When the store has met its quota, it will receive the retailer's banner, a government citation.

During the Third War Loan Drive from September 9 to September 30, Grant company employees sold more than three million dollars in War Bonds and Stamps.

ASHVILLE

Second Class Radioman Robert Litten son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Litten, is now stationed at Auckland, New Zealand. Robert writes that he and his "buddies" receive the finest treatment from the natives, who do all they can to make the boys feel at home.

Ashville Walnut township's annual Farmers' Institute began Monday afternoon under the direction of President James Moody. Other officers are Raymond Riegel, vice-president; Mrs. Frank Dill, secretary; Ralph Fisher, treasurer; and Mrs. Harold Fisher, hostess. Sessions will be held all day Tuesday with the evening program being in charge of Beckwith and Company, magicians and entertainers, beginning at 8 p. m.

Ashville's basketball team will play Washington township on the local court Tuesday evening with the reserve game starting at 7:30 p. m.

To most of us reading the morning paper is the extent of our excitement at the breakfast table. But to Henry Butler of Jacksonville, Florida, the morning meal will seem "pretty tame" after a recent rude interruption which occurred while he was eating breakfast. A buzz saw ripped through the side of his house, sliced the breakfast table in half, and then whirled out the other side of the house. The saw had broken loose at a nearby saw mill, flipped through a church, and then plowed through Butler's house.

Ashville Regular meeting of the Knights of Pythias lodge will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m.

MARINES SLOG THROUGH BOUGAINVILLE MUD

DURING EARLY OPERATIONS on Bougainville Island, torrential rains turned the dirt roads into muddy by-paths that even bogged down jeeps. Caterpillar tractors had to be used to move supplies to the fighting front. This supply unit halts for a momentary rest on its way to the line after battling through the gooey, clinging mud for hours. This is a U. S. Marine Corps photo.

Family Dinner Honors Lieut. Owens and Wife

Anniversary of Marriage Is Celebrated

Honoring Lieutenant Robert Owens and his wife, Private First Class Helen Evans Owens, a family dinner was served Sunday at the home of Lieut. Owens' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Owens, of East Corwin street. Joint hosts for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Loring Evans, East Main street, parents of Pfc. Owens, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum of North Court street, uncle and aunt of Lieut. Owens.

The dinner marked the first wedding anniversary of the honor guests and was a farewell courtesy also for them as they left Sunday to return to their posts. Lieut. Owens, who received his commission as second lieutenant in the air corps January 14 when he finished his navigator course at San Marcos, Texas, went to Roswell, N. M., to attend Bombardier School, and Pfc. Owens returned to Midland, Texas, where she is a member of the photography unit of the WAC.

Candles lighted the attractive dinner table that was centered with a bowl of mixed flowers. Covers were placed for the honor guests, their parents and Mr. and Mrs. Plum, others present including Mrs. Ned Plum, Mrs. Dick Plum, Mrs. Emmett Evans, Miss Patty Owens and Leland Siegwald of Circleville; Miss Helen Morris of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Eliza Washburn and Miss Katherine Easton of Columbus and Miss Mary Beth Owens, Ohio State university.

Lieut. and Pfc. Owens motored to the Southwest with Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, Jr., who will join her husband at the same post in Roswell as that to which Lieut. Owens has been assigned.

Bowers-Dresbach Wedding

Trinity Methodist church of Chillicothe was the scene of the wedding service Saturday when Miss Marjorie Ellen Dresbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Camp Dresbach, Hillsville, and Captain George Richard Bowers, U. S. Army, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bowers, Laurelville, exchanged their nuptial vows at 3:30 p. m. Ferns and Oregon huckleberry foliage banked the altar, two tall baskets of white carnations and chrysanthemums and ivory tapers in cathedral candelabra completing the decorations.

Miss Marilyn Breckenridge of Dayton as soloist presented several nuptial selections preceding the single ring service conducted by the Rev. James H. Lyon. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a conventional wedding gown of white satin, the bodice being trimmed with lace, incrustated with seed pearls. She wore a knee-length veil of bridal illusion, falling from a Mary Queen-of-Scots cap trimmed with orange blossoms. The lovely pearl brooch pinned at the neck of her gown was the gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white shattared carnations with an orchid in the center. The white carnation is the bride's sorority flower. She is a member of Chi Omega sorority.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Snyder of Kingston, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warner, of East High street, served as maid of honor for Miss Dresbach. Gowned in pink satin and chiffon with plume of matching pink in her hair, she carried a bouquet of deep rose carnations.

Miss Ruth E. Bowers, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Virginia Mittendorf of Indianapolis, Ind., were in gowns similar to that of the maid of honor, but of heavenly blue with blue plumes in their hair. Their flowers were pink carnations.

Robert Bowers, brother of the bridegroom, and Harold Grant Dresbach, brother of the bride, seated the guests.

Immediately after the service, Mr. and Mrs. Dresbach entertained at a reception for 150 guests at the Town House, Chillicothe.

Miss Mary Lou Bacon of London and Miss Mary Ann Plymale and Miss Freda Gilmore of Gallipolis served as hostesses at the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Pyle of Chillicothe entertained the bridal party at a buffet supper before

RATIONING AT A GLANCE

Proprietors of restaurants and institutional users of food were reminded today by George D. McDowell, chairman of the Pickaway County War Price and Rationing board, that February 1 is the deadline for filing OPA Form R-1307 Supplement with the local board for the purpose of obtaining rationed commodities beginning March 1.

The revision of General Ration Order No. 5, which affects all hotels, restaurants and other eating and drinking establishments, was designed to accomplish a more equitable distribution of food to commercial eating places. The plan involves primarily a change in the way these places will report their count on the number of persons served. Heretofore, an institutional user included in this count all persons to whom either "food" or "refreshments" were served, both for the "base period" in December 1942 and for each current allotment period. Beginning January 1, these two groups are being counted separately.

Restaurant proprietors may obtain additional information from the food clerk of the War Price and Rationing Board.

While it is difficult to predict specific prices for individual stores and communities because of difference in wholesale and transportation costs, it is estimated the prices will be close to prices paid in the Winter of 1942. In the Spring, prices should be lower.

RATION-FREE SHOE SALE
Retail shoe stores have been given an extra week, through February 5th, to make ration-free sales of limited quantities of women's low-priced shoes at $3 or less a pair.

Retailers had been granted a two-week period, January 17 through January 29, for the ration-free sales. The period is extended to three weeks in order to promote orderly buying and avoid a possible rush that would put heavy pressure on limited shoe personnel. The action is expected to provide ample time for retail establishments to sell the allowed 15 percent of their September inventories of women's low-priced shoes ration-free.

Contradictory statements have been issued relative to the exchange of tokens for the overlapping brown and green stamps after February 27 when the new token plan goes into operation.

To correct this situation, amendment has been made to provide that when the new token plan becomes effective, green stamps K, L and M in War Ration Book Four and Brown Stamps Y and Z in War Ration Book 3, previously validated and which remain valid until March 20, may be used for rationed items and tokens will be given in exchange for both color of stamps. However, the brown and green stamps will continue to have the same point value as they now carry—8, 5, 2 and 1 point value. The blue and red stamps have a uniform value of ten points each.

Consumers are advised to spend their green and brown stamps first.

More Fish
Effective Thursday, January 27, OPA's new schedule of community cents-per-pound ceiling prices for some forty varieties of fish goes into effect.

Up until now OPA has required that retail maximum prices of fish were to be determined by application of the retailer's customary markup but this has not been satisfactory in holding the line on prices.

Under the new regulation, the flat cents-per-pound markups will be applied much as the percentage markups are applied to groceries and vegetables. The price will vary according to the kind of fish, the dressing of that fish and the group of stores in which it is sold.

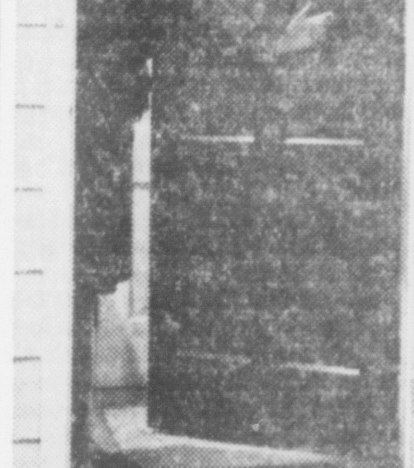

While it is difficult to predict specific prices for individual stores and communities because of difference in wholesale and transportation costs, it is estimated the prices will be close to prices paid in the Winter of 1942. In the Spring, prices should be lower.

R-S-T-U Expire
Brown Stamps R, S, T, U in Book 3 for the purchase of meats, butter, fats, canned fish and canned milk expire midnight, Saturday, January 29.

Brown Stamp U which became valid January 23, as well as W which will be good January 30th, will continue valid until February 28.

You will be using Green Stamps K, L, and M in War Ration Book 4 for the purchase of processed foods from February 1 through March 20. These are the last green stamps on the page. They are also the last green stamps you will use, as blue stamps will go into operation February 27 when the token plan becomes effective.

TIRES
Next inspections due: A-book vehicles by March 31; B's by February 29; C's by February 29, commercial vehicles every 6 months or

Mary isn't enough— you're needed too!

WHEN MARY JOINED the WAC, you thought it was pretty fine. You knew she was just the type to make a good soldier.

The first time she came home in uniform, remember how proud she looked, and the lively way she talked about the places she'd been, the interesting people she'd met, and her job as an Army airplane and engine mechanic? You couldn't help feeling envious.

Mary's having an important share in this war. She's doing a really vital job.

But there aren't enough "Marys" to do all the Army jobs which must be done. You are needed too.

If you're not good at mechanics, perhaps you know how to type, or you like to drive a car. Or you want to learn a new job—something you've never done before. Even if you've never had any kind of job, the Army can train you, and you'll fill a vital spot in whichever branch you choose to serve—the Army Ground Forces, Army Air Forces, or Army Service Forces.

Wacs do 239 different types of Army jobs. And it takes all types of women with all kinds of abilities to do them. There is important and interesting work waiting for you to do.

Don't leave it to Mary. The need is urgent. If you're between 20 and 50 years of age, without children under 14—get full details about joining the WAC today! (Women in essential war industry must have release from the U. S. Employment Service.)

The plain truth about HAMILTON WATCHES and the WAR

Hamilton watches are among the quality jewelry products most difficult to secure, and we regret that we are unable to meet the full requirements of our friends and customers.

At the same time, however, we are proud to have our name associated with the name of a company, and with a product which is so important to America and to the winning of the war. Hamilton's pre-war reputation for quality and accuracy was the very reason why the production of Hamilton civilian watches was quickly reduced when the war started. For—as Army and Navy officials reasoned—such a reputation must be deserved... and so Hamilton was given some of the most difficult and most vital wartime assignments.

That's why the Hamilton watches you used to see in our windows are no longer there. Instead, the ships of America's mighty battle fleet sail the seven seas with Hamilton chronometers providing the dependable time service necessary to accurate navigation. The bombers and fighters in the sky, and the tanks on the desert; the blimps, the submarines, PT boats—all these modern craft and vehicles of war must have accurate time available at all times. Time—Hamilton time—gets them where they want to go—and brings them back!

Today we can't promise to provide the Hamilton watch you want. But this we can promise: As soon as the war is won, we'll have Hamilton watches again. And they will be better than ever before—because of Hamilton's war-time experience designing, developing and producing the most accurate precision timekeeping instruments the world has ever known.

Obituary

Curtis Myrl Stoeer was born December 6, 1910, the son of Charles and Mary Justus Stoeer and departed this life January 4, 1944 aged 33 years, 28 days. In early childhood he was stricken with a heart ailment which he carried thru his whole life. On July 5, 1930 he was united in marriage to Martha Downs. To this union were born two sons, Curtis Eugene and James Franklin. He was located in infancy and on Easter Sunday, 1941, he united with the Pherson Methodist Church which membership he maintained at the time of his death.

Besides his parents, his wife and two sons, he is survived by three sisters, Bernadine Caudy, Mildred Fredrick and Mary Louise Lewis, four brothers, Byron, Kenneth and David. Also one grandmother, Mrs. Sara Stoeer.

Of a quiet disposition, Curtis was industrious and tedious in his work, honest in his business and always a ready friend. He will be sadly missed by a host of friends.

Numerous Folk Would Like Yankees, But At What Price, Is Catch

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, Jan. 24—Quick Pickups: Why the New York Yankees are the consistent storm centers of rumors dealing with the possible purchase of that club is almost impossible to figure out. The Yanks are good year in and year out, have a strong following, make (it is presumed) quite a bit of money and are in excellent hands.

Among others rumored ready to pick up the Yankees are Promoter Mike Jacobs and James A. Farley. It was only two weeks ago that the telephones buzzed and wires burned with the half-truth that Jacobs was very interested in the Yankees and had already approached President Ed Barrow.

That Jacobs is interested in the Yankees cannot be denied, but that he approached Barrow sounds like pure malarkey, and Barrow himself has said that the nearest Mike ever got to him was the possible occupancy by both of the Yankee stadium during one of the home games.

Col. Jacob Ruppert, head of the beer clan and owner of the Yankees until his death, estimated the value of the Yankees, lock, stock and barrel, at $10,000,000. Jacobs was reported to be willing to put up $2,500,000, or a quarter of the original estimate.

Mike Nods Head
 When informed of this, Jacobs nodded his head sagely, champed on his store teeth a couple of times, and said, "a bargain at the price." Outside of stating that he was "interested in the Yankees, just like a couple of million other people in New York," Mike gave no hint that he has designs on the New York American league club.

Mr. Jacobs has always played his hand so close that it looked like the paper on the wall, and the Yankee deal might be one of those hands.

But while Judge Landis is around, Mike will never own the Yankees. No gambling-connected persons allowed.

One of the most powerful factors at work in any of the bond drives is sports interest. The enthusiasm of millions of fans for the favorite teams or athletes is a channel through which those bonds pour and keep pouring. In New York alone, the goal for four sports events connected with the 4th War Loan this week is $5,000,000.

A basketball double-header, a tennis show, an all-star sports broadcast and a hockey game will focus fan-interest on the bond drive, with the apparent certainty that the goal of $5,000,000 will be reached.

It was a great day last year when the local Journal-American staged a War Bond rally to the Polo grounds, featuring brilliant old-timers of baseball and an all-star game between Camp Cumberland and combined Yanks, Giants and Dodgers. If memory serves correctly, they pulled in 816 thousand dollars' worth of bonds in that one show, and the fans were rewarded with entertainment worth at least half that.

To Bigger, Better
 You are going to see bigger and better shows as time rolls along. No one knows how many bond drives we will have to stage before the war is ended, but if they numbered in dozens, sports would still be equal to the task.

This is only a sidelight on the real story, but the recipients of the New York Baseball Writers' award as player of the year make up quite a colorful crowd. Beginning in 1931, those who took the award were Bill Terry, Lou Gehrig, Herb Pennock, Carl Hubbell, Dizzy Dean, Hank Greenberg, Tony Lazzeri, Joe DiMaggio, Jimmie Foxx, Buckly Walters, Bob Feller, DiMaggio again, Ted Williams and Bill Dickey.

It is the only team which can boast two Joe DiMaggios.

TWO HOT SHOT FIGHTING MEN TANGLING TONIGHT

The Philadelphia heavyweight, Gus Dorazio, was given a slight edge over "Hatchet Man" Sheppard with odds ranging from 6 to 5 to 9 to 5 in favor of Dorazio.

ONLY TWO OHIO COLLEGE CREWS IN SELECT LIST

COLUMBUS, Jan. 24—As Ohio's basketball playing colleges head into the homestretch of the 1943-44 season, only two well-drilled, accurate shooting contingents, Miami and Wilberforce, today remain undefeated.

Miami scored its most notable triumph of the season by defeating Indiana's Big Ten squad, 52-50, Friday, to chalk up its eighth consecutive victory. Wilberforce made it six in a row by virtue of its 35-18 triumph over Wilmington.

Bowling Green's high-flying Falcons continued to roll up the scores and the wins in impressive fashion. With Don Otten, sensational Bee-Gee standout scoring 21 points, Bowling Green shellacked Case, 85-54, for its 14th triumph against one defeat. Earlier in the week the Bee-Gees defeated Patterson field, 48-40.

Otterbein's Cardinals remained in the running for the state's mythical cage championship by virtue of their 53-50 triumph over Capital and a 63-37 win over Kenyon. The Cardinals now boast six victories against one defeat.

Akron's Zippers with seven triumphs and Denison with ten, round out the possible candidates for championship honors. Akron and Denison have taken it on the chin twice each.

Ohio's Big Ten representative, Ohio State, lost a hard-fought 42-40 contest to a powerful Northwestern five led by Otto Graham. Previous to the defeat at the hands of the Wildcats the Bucks were undefeated in league competition, holding a double win over Indiana's Hoosiers. The Bucks are expected to bounce back into the win column tonight when they tangle with the hapless Chicago Maroons.

BOEHM RETAINS MARGIN IN PETERSEN CLASSIC
CHICAGO, Jan. 24—Charles Boehm, 28-year-old war worker from Highland Park, Mich., held the lead today in the $32,000 Petersen bowling classic thanks chiefly to the unimpressive efforts of his rivals, several of whom had been expected to pass him in last night's rolling.

His eight-game total of 1564 was followed by the 1550 of Stan Korhas of Chicago. Barney McCoy of Kansas City shot into third place with 1549. A total of 1539, rolled by Ralph Eoff of Jacksonville, Ill., was good for fourth.

The 10-day tournament will be resumed next Saturday, continuing daily thereafter through the closing day, Sunday, February 6. The winner will collect $5,100 in prizes.

Charlie Daw, veteran Milwaukee kegler, who captured the Petersen event in 1931 with 1837, could knock down only 1398 yesterday. Private Joe Wilman of Chicago, like Daw, a former ABC champion, could collect only 1421.

SAMSHIPS
LONDON—Most of the Liberty ships lent-leased by America to the British government have been given names starting with the letters "Sam," as a compliment to Uncle Sam. Examples are Samouse, Samesek and Samtweed.

TIGERS EXPECT WILMINGTON TO ATTRACT CROWD

Argument Concerning Victor In 50-48 Game To Be Continued Friday

One of the biggest crowds of the current basketball season is expected to move into the Circleville Athletic Club gymnasium Friday night when Circleville high Tigers and Wilmington Hurricane tangle.

The last time the teams met, Circleville won 50-48 in the third overtime. The victory is still disputed, Wilmington claiming it led by one point after the first overtime and should have been declared the winner.

However, the game was permitted to continue with the Wilmington coach's permission under an agreement that a team to win in the overtime must be ahead by two points.

What the outcome of the argument will be is not yet known. The Hurricane has a strong team, one capable of doing almost anything on the basketball court, so the Tigers will be pressed to win their South Central Ohio league encounter.

The invaders will be paced by Dave Daniel, tall center; Ad Copeland, high scoring guard, and Lambke, a brilliant forward.

The Friday night engagement is the only one on the Tiger schedule this week. The SCO standing to date follows.

HAWKEYES PUT CLEAN RECORD BEFORE INDIANA

CHICAGO, Jan. 24—Only the Iowa Hawkeyes, of the three unbeaten basketball teams in the Western Conference, stood a chance today of losing its clean record during the remainder of the week.

That chance is regarded as somewhat remote as the Hawkeyes meet one of the three weak tailenders in the circuit, Indiana, at Bloomington in games Friday and Saturday nights. Indiana has played three games and lost all of them.

Purdue, which has won six and lost none, and Northwestern, which, like Iowa, has won four and lost none, are perfectly safe since they will not engage in Big Ten competition this week.

Purdue drove to its sixth victory Saturday night by whipping Michigan handily 51 to 35 at Lafayette, while Iowa was beating Illinois, 53 to 44, at Iowa City. Northwestern was handing Ohio its first defeat in three starts, 42 to 40, in Evanston, Ill.

Ohio State should have no trouble whatever tonight at the midway in humbling the Chicago Maroons who haven't won a conference game in so long it fatigues the memory of their most loyal fans.

Northwestern will be seeking its second win of the season tonight against Lieut. Tony Hinkle's Blue-jackets at the Great Lakes naval training station. In their previous encounter, the Wildcats won, 54 to 36.

"The Authority on Authorities"

VIOLATING CONVENTIONS

THERE are several situations in which it pays to make opening leads which are contrary to the accepted conventions. One of these conventions is that an honor lead from an unbid suit against a No Trump game contract shows, except when it is a king from an aces king and others, that the leader holds the card immediately below the one offered, plus some other card at least as high as the nine, but not the one directly above the card led.

Pass 3 ♣ Pass 3 NT

From West's spade suit, with "touching honors," the accepted lead is the fourth best, the 7. But if that is led, South makes his contract plus overtricks. He should play low from dummy. If East ducks, the 10 wins and South runs all the tricks. If East plays the A, he makes the A a certain third-round stopper, assuring South 11 tricks.

But if West leads the J, South is definitely beaten, with the cards lying as are. If the Q goes on it from dummy, the A wins, causes the 10 to get dropped by the K on the return, and West runs the suit. Nothing can be done by South to save himself.

There is only one situation, among all the possible ones, in which the J lead is worse than the 7. That is when South holds three headed by the Q. In that event, the J lead enables South to make his contract. If East ducks, South wins with the Q and runs his winning tricks. If East uses the A, South plays low, and on the return uses his 10 to force the K, leaving his Q high. With that situation, the 7 lead would beat the contract, as East could put on his A and return a low one through the Q up to the K-J, assuring run of the suit.

The greatest danger of the J lead, however, is that it destroys somewhat the conventional meaning of honor leads by the partnership, making them harder to read in cases where accurate reading is vital to the defense. Consequently, such departures should not be too frequent, and then only when judgment calls strongly for them.

KAY KYSER

Kay Kyser takes his "College of Musical Knowledge" crew to the Navy Air Base at Los Alamitos, Calif., for the broadcast on Wednesday, January 26, at 9 p. m., over WLW. Georgia Carroll, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibble, Sully Mason and the rest of the gang will be on hand to entertain and quiz the flying sailors.

JANET BLAIR

Lovely Janet Blair, Columbia Picture star, will prove that she is the possessor of a sense of humor as well as a gorgeous figure when she is the guest of Abbott and Costello on their program of Thursday 9 p. m., over NBC.

Janet, whose real name is Martha Janet Lafferty, was for several years the singer with Hal Kemp's orchestra. Carrol Tomroth of the NBC Artist's Bureau discovered her and her first screen test vindicated his judgment. Her pictures to date are "Three Girls About Town," "Blondie Goes To College," "Two Yanks In Trinidad," "Broadway," "My Sister Eileen," "Something to Shout About." She'll soon be seen in "Curly".

Sharing the spotlight with Abbott and Costello and their guest will be Freddie Rich's orchestra with vocals by Connie Haines, Mel Blanc as "Bugs Bunny," Billy Gray as "Little Matilda" and Elvia Allman in her role as "Mrs. Ken Niles".

RADIO NEWS NOTES

Dinah Shore, the service men's "Darling of Radio," was singled out for special honor on this week's government program, "Mail Call." The program was devoted to service men from Tennessee, which is Dinah's home state. On several previous occasions she has appeared on this broadcast but this time they said, "The show's all yours, Dinah, take it away!"

Harriet O'Rourke, coloratura soprano of Chicago, Ill., who is one of the semi-finalists on the "Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air," had an audition while in New York with the impresario of the Buenos Aires Opera and has been invited to sing two roles there this summer.

The subject of "meat" is on the minds of the cast of William Bendix's new program, "The Life of Riley," Sundays on the Blue, even more than usual these days because the show is sponsored by the American Meat Institute. During rehearsal this week, actor Hans Conried read the lines: "I'll meet you downstairs." Hans asked, "Don't you want me to emphasize the word 'meat'?"

"Sure," cracked Bendix. "It's a cinch there won't be any beef about that!"

Local Campaign Opens To Reach $279,000 War Bond Goal

INITIAL EFFORT TO BE DIRECTED IN CIRCLEVILLE

Campaign In Villages To Be Conducted After Success In City

SERIES E BEING BOOSTED

Back The Attack Message To Be Carried To Homes And Factories

Circle residents, men, women and children, become just average folk this week when the Fourth War Loan drive is intensified with a concerted effort being made to clear up the city's $279,000 share of the county's $1,244,000 quota.

Sunday was marked by gatherings of team captains and their team members who were discussing plans for the drive which was started Monday and was to continue through the week. Every effort will be made this week to put Circleville over the top.

After the Circleville quota has been reached, efforts of the Fourth War Loan committee will be centered on all villages and townships of the county.

Teams In Action

Teams announced Saturday by Clark Will, chairman of the Fourth War Loan drive, were to swing into action Monday morning, keeping up their work until the end of the week.

In this campaign, in contrast to previous drives, only the sales to individuals will be counted in the first half of the drive.

Up to February 1, emphasis will be placed solely on selling the $25 to $1,000 "people's" E War Bonds, and the Series F and G and other government securities to individual buyers.

The local War Loan organization joins in the nation-wide appeal for sales of at least an extra $100 bond to each income earner any time during the drive, but preferably before the end of January.

The Circleville campaign committee is expected to carry the back-the-attack message to homes, factory benches and offices in the community.

"Big Money" Later

"Big money" will be called into the campaign after February 1 as solicitors take orders from industries, firms and other investment institutions exclusive of commercial banks.

Chairman Will has pointed out that the county's overall quota is $1,244,000 including $588,000 for individuals and $656,000 for corporations.

Tom O. Gilliland heads the Circleville drive, while J. Wallace Crist as vice chairman.

The Ohio quota of the government's $14,000,000,000 campaign fund is $672,000,000 of which $174,000,000 is in E bonds. This total of E bonds is $33,000,000 more E bonds than Ohioans have purchased in any previous War Loan drive.

PRIVATE FUNERAL RITES FOR MARGARET EBERT

Private funeral services will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home, 155 East Mound street, for Mrs. Margaret Ebert, who died Saturday afternoon. The Rev. G. L. Troutman will officiate.

Mrs. Ebert, a lifelong member of Trinity Lutheran church, was its oldest member at the time of her death. Had she lived until March 29, she would have been 89 years old.

Friends may call at the Ebert home until Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Ebert had been in failing health for the last few years. She had been seriously ill for three weeks.

Mrs. Ebert's only survivor is her daughter, Miss Mary, of the East Mound street address. Her husband, Charles R. died in 1895. Mrs. Ebert was the daughter of Jacob and Rosina Kellstadt.

Pall bearers will include Milton Kellstadt, Edward E. Ebert, Wilson Dunkel, Edwin Walters, J. Austin Dowden and Durward Dowden.

Arrangements are in charge of L. M. Mader.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

ONE MINUTE PULPIT
Remove from me the way of lying; and grant me thy law graciously.—Psalm 119:29.

Democratic executive committee is scheduled to meet Monday evening in the common pleas courtroom of the courthouse. Many matters of business are to be discussed.

A meeting of the general committee planning a Youth Canteen for Circleville will be held Monday at 8 p. m. in office of the Ralston Purina Co.

Miss Rose Leah Richardson, superintendent at Berger hospital for the last several months, left Monday for Portsmouth, Va., to start serving as a member of the U. S. Naval nursing corps. Miss Richardson has been commissioned an ensign. Miss Helen Yarnell, of Columbus, will become superintendent of the hospital February 10. In the meantime, present members of the staff will perform duties of the superintendent.

Mrs. Virginia Dunnick Boyer of Harrison township started to teach Monday at the Walnut street first grade succeeding Mrs. Faye Porter, resigned. Mrs. Porter is joining her husband, Carl, in operation of the county Children's home.

The American Legion and Auxiliary will sponsor a games party Wednesday night in the Memorial Hall. Games start at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Abbe Mills Clarke and Miss Alice Ada May, being treated in Berger hospital for injuries suffered last week in an automobile accident, were to be removed Monday to their home, 162 West Union street.

Mrs. Archie Ison and daughter were removed from Berger hospital Monday to their home, 144 Montclair avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Metcalf of Williamsport Route 2 are parents of a son born Sunday in Berger hospital.

Mrs. Clarence Alexander of Jackson township was taken to Berger hospital Sunday for medical treatment.

Mrs. Jennie Cave, Circleville Route 3, a medical patient in Berger hospital, has been removed to her home.

A daughter was born Monday morning in Berger hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Arledge of Tarlton.

ESHELMAN SOY BEAN MEAL AIDS OHIO FARMERS

Soy bean oil meal, manufactured by Esheleman Milling Co. and Ralston Purina Co. of Circleville, is being distributed through several south central Ohio counties to help farmers carry on their production program.

Twenty tons of soy bean oil meal have been shipped to Logan for distribution to 75 farmers who have placed their orders with the county extension service office.

A larger supply has been shipped to Clinton county for distribution there. The oil meal is bought by the Commodity Credit Corporation through a program which requires local processors to set aside 20 percent of the oil meal product for distribution throughout the territories they serve.

YOUTH ON PROBATION

William Clayton Shaeffer, 16, of Laurelville Route 1, was placed on probation Saturday by Judge Lemuel B. Weldon in juvenile court after a hearing on charges of disturbing the peace. Young Shaeffer was arrested last week by city police when his automobile was found parked on Western avenue. Two young Laurelville girls were in the automobile with him at 2 o'clock in the morning. Shaeffer was put in jail on a destruction of property charge brought in Justice of the Peace B. T. Hedges' court after some jars were broken. The charge, however, was reduced to disturbing the peace and the youth was ordered to stay out of court.

PEDESTRIANS INJURED WHEN HIT BY TRUCK

Two New Holland men suffered head and body injuries at midnight Saturday when they were struck by a truck when they were walking in Route 22 east of the village.

Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontious said the men were Pete Seyfang, 58, and John S. Moon, 62. Moon gave his residence as Raridan, O., but the deputy said he had been staying with Seyfang.

While neither man is seriously injured, both required medical treatment in the office of Dr. Charles Davis, New Holland. Moon for head injuries and hip bruises and Seyfang for cuts and bruises. They were taken to the doctor's office in the Kirkpatrick ambulance.

Pontious, who investigated with Highway Patrolman Duling, said Seyfang and Moon were walking toward their home when the accident happened. The deputy said one of the men had fallen into the highway and that William Helsel, 51, of New Holland Route 1, had been unable to avoid hitting both of them. He turned his truck almost sideways in the road to avoid the accident, but the vehicle, belonging to McKinley Kirk, struck both pedestrians. Helsel was accompanied by his daughter, Annabel.

The accident happened just east of the New Holland corporation.

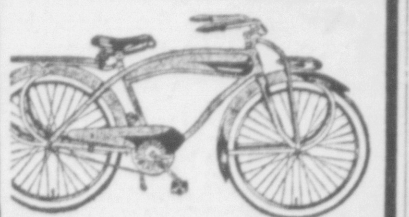

SEAL SALE REPORT TO BE PRESENTED THURSDAY

Final report of the 1943 Christmas seal sale will be made Thursday at 3 p. m. when the Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health association conducts its meeting in the offices of Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner.

Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, executive secretary of the association, said Monday that the meeting is open to the public, all persons interested in the work of the association being invited to attend.

SHANER POSTS BOND

Harold Shaner, 30, of Worthington, posted $10 bond at 3:50 a. m. Sunday in police court after his arrest by patrolmen for reckless operation of his automobile. Shaner was driving 62 miles an hour on Court street, police said.

NO HALFWAY INFLATION

Economic Stabilizer Vinson had an off-the-record meeting with members of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee the other day which threw significant light on the subsidy-inflation fight.

Minnesota's Senator Ball, Republican, urged that Vinson consider Senator Aiken's proposal of food stamps, by which people with fixed incomes would get stamps similar to those issued in WPA relief days and would be able to buy their food cheaper. Others not receiving fixed incomes would have to pay higher prices.

Judge Vinson's reaction to this plan was instantaneous.

"Do you want me to put every wife of a soldier or Army officer in the category of a pauper, Senator?" he said. "They all have fixed incomes. So do school teachers, policemen, firemen, and all city and government officials. But they are not paupers. I'm sure you would be the last to have them declared so."

Then Senator Danaher, Connecticut Republican, spoke up and asked if there wasn't some compromise that could be worked out regarding stabilization.

"What I'm trying to do," replied Judge Vinson, "is carry out the program you gentlemen passed in Congress. You voted for stabilization. If you have stabilization, you don't have it for some and not for others. There is no such thing as halfway stabilization. You can't compromise. Either you keep the cost of living down—which is stabilization—or you let it go up—which is inflation."

The Senators couldn't answer that one. But they still don't seem to like the stabilization plan for which they voted.

GEORGIA SHAVES POLL TAX

It hasn't made headlines, but the quiet work of Georgia's efficient Governor Arnall toward eliminating the Georgia poll tax is being carefully studied here. Without any fanfare, Governor Arnall has just about eliminated the tax in a State which has been wedded to it since the Civil War.

What the Georgia Governor did first was to remove the poll tax on people over 60—on the ground that they had paid taxes all their lives and should not be asked to pay any more.

Then he got the legislature to eliminate the tax on younger voters (Georgians begin voting at the age of 18) on the ground that they didn't have much money and could not afford to pay a poll tax.

Then he got the tax eliminated for members of the Army, Navy, Marines and other services.

Thus, gradually, a very large segment of the Georgia population has been relieved of paying the poll tax, and it should be only a brief step to elimination of it altogether.

FDR'S K RATIONS

It has been revealed that the President's plane on his trip to Cairo and Teheran was an Army transport of the DC4 type, a big four-engine Douglas, capable of carrying fifty passengers. Churchill has a luxurious airliner specially built for the Prime Minister. But the President rides in whatever equipment the Army can provide at the moment.

Otis Bryan, the man who flew Roosevelt's plane, says the President is "a marvelous traveler; he ate the K rations like the rest of us, and demanded no special attention."

Bryan, a vice president of TWA, is one of the first four-engine pilots in the world. He also piloted the President's plane on the overland parts of the Casablanca trip. The overseas legs of that trip were in a Pan-American clipper.

And You say you "Can't Afford" an Extra War Bond?

THEY say that after a while we become callous to death and suffering.

They say that in wartime people cannot understand the little heartaches and tragedies that touch individual lives. For when death and destruction occur on a mass scale, what happened to this one American soldier may not mean so much to you.

But to his parents and to a girl back home, his death means the end of everything.

It means the end of his dreams of a happy home, a family, a future...

Think of this boy for just a moment, please. Think of him... of his family... of what might have been?

Can you, in all decency, say that you "can't afford" an extra War Bond? We know you'll come through—as you have in every other War Loan Drive—and INVEST IN AT LEAST ONE EXTRA HUNDRED DOLLAR BOND today. That's the least you can do. You should do more, if you can. Invest $200, $300, $400—as much as possible. Remember, a hundred dollar Series E War Bond costs only seventy-five dollars. You get back $4.00 at maturity for every $3.00 you put up.
